THE PREVIOUS QUESTION

Is not debatable, but the compiler of the Legislative Directory for 1897 begs leave to exercise his privilege under the rules and close the debate. The edition of 1895 was so well received by persons interested in Illinois and the men who have made Illinois the greatest and most influential among the galaxy of American states, that I have been to considerable expense in time and money to verify the data published in 1895. Not exceeding half a dozen errors were discovered, and the present edition is presented as being accurate.

Where so many men of many minds meet in an assembly it is impossible to bring all of them to a common center, viz: To realize the value of a work of this kind. This is the only excuse I offer for failing to secure portraits of every member of the Fortieth General Assembly. However, seventy-five per cent of the members are represented by portraits, and an epitome of the life of every one is given.

Thanking my friends for valuable assistance,

Sincerely,

Springfield, Ill., March, 1897.

John R. Tanner

THE GOVERNOR.

John Riley Tanner was born April 4, 1844, in Warrick Co., Ind., the particular site of his birth being a log house three miles from Boonville. He attended the common school of his neighborhood and worked on the farm of his father, acquiring the rudiments of a pioneer education. There were five males in the family, father and four sons, and every one offered his life for his country in the civil war. The mother died at Carbondale, Ill., in 1863. The father enlisted in the 14th Ill. Cav., was captured and ended his life in a rebel prison pen in Columbus, Miss. Albert Tanner volunteered in the 26th Ky. Inf., was severely wounded in battle, and died in Nashville, Tenn., in 1863. Frederick enlisted in the 13th Ill. Cav., and died in a hospital in Pine Bluff, Ark., in 1864. J. M. Tanner was also a member of the 13th Ill. Cav., served with distinction through the war, and was mustered out a lieutenant in rank in 1865.

John R. Tanner entered Co. A, 98th Ill. Inf., in 1863, and served until June, 1865, when he was transferred to Co. B, 61st Inf., and was mustered out in September, 1865. He served in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia. It is the united testimony of the comrades who marched and fought with John R. Tanner that a better and braver soldier never wore the Union blue. He never shirked a duty or avoided a danger. Generous to a fault, he shared his blanket and crust with a needy comrade, and under the deadly fire of rebel guns, where men became iron with nerves of steel, John R. Tanner never flinched nor showed his back to an enemy.

Returning to Illinois, Gov. Tanner purchased sixty acres of land in Clay county, for which he paid $600. Taking for a wife Miss Lauretta Ingraham, he began farming. This was his occupation in 1870, when he was elected sheriff of Clay county. This was followed by a term as circuit clerk, at the close of which he again engaged in farming and in the real estate business. In 1880 he was elected to the state senate from the 44th district, redeeming both his own county of Clay and the senatorial district from the democracy. During his senatorial term he engaged in sawing lumber in partnership with his brother, J. M. Tanner, continuing in this business until 1886, when he was elected state treasurer, receiving 276,680 votes to 240,864 for Henry F. J. Ricker, democrat. It was one of the largest majorities ever given a state officer in Illinois, being exceeded, however, by the phenomenal majorities for the state candidates in 1894, which, in part, at least, were due to Gov. Tanner, then chairman of the republican state committee, and manager of the campaign.

For about a year Gov. Tanner was U. S. marshal for the Southern District of Illinois by appointment of President Arthur, and for about the same time member of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, by appointment of Gov. Fifer. Resigning the latter office he was shortly thereafter made by President Harrison, Assistant United States Treasurer at Chicago, which responsible and important office he held until the democratic appointee succeeded him.

In the many responsible and honorable positions held by Gov. Tanner prior to his election as governor, he demonstrated his business capacity and his faithful attention to details. He ably and honestly discharged every trust reposed in him by the people. He is a prodigious worker. He knows that a sluggard cannot succeed in business or politics any more than a lazy general can win battles. Hence, he never saved himself, and labored early and late, giving minute attention to the details of his business or the duties of the office he held.

Reluctant to enter upon the race for governor in 1896, and becoming a candidate only upon the earnest solicitation of many prominent and influential republicans, once in he was in to win, and not to lose. The spring campaign in 1896 preceding the republican state convention was marked by an almost unanimous desire for Gov. Tanner to head the ticket in Illinois. County after county instructed its delegates to the state convention for him, and long before the convention met it was absolutely certain that he would be named for governor on the first ballot. Early in the contest, which was good-natured from start to finish, there were no less than six avowed candidates for governor, and a score more were hoping for an opening in the convention. Gov. Tanner was named on the first ballot by an overwhelming majority over all in the largest convention of republicans that ever gathered in Illinois.

He made a magnificent canvass of the state, but received a set-back by an accident at Quincy early in the campaign, when the horses attached to his carriage ran away. Almost every county was visited, and he was elected by an enormous majority, receiving 587,637 votes to 474,256 for John P. Altgeld, the candidate of the democrats and populists, who combined on ex-Gov. Altgeld.

In 1887 Gov. Tanner lost his wife by death, leaving to his care a son and daughter. December, 1896, Gov. Tanner married Miss Cora Edith English, an accomplished and highly connected lady of Springfield.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

William A. Northcott, Lieutenant-Governor and President of the Senate, was born in Murphysboro, Tennessee. At the breaking out of the war his father, Gen. R. S. Northcott, was compelled to leave his home on account of his Union sentiments, and went to West Virginia, where he accepted a commission as colonel and served during the entire war, nine months of which he spent in Libby prison.

William A. Northcott received his education in the public schools and at the United States naval academy at elected Head Consul of the Modern Woodmen of America, a fraternal insurance society which has a membership in the northwestern states of 230,000—70,000 of the number being in the state of Illinois. To this same position which he now holds, he has been twice unanimously reelected. In 1892 Mr. Northcott was the republican candidate for congress in the old Eighteenth congressional district of Illinois, commonly called "Morrison's District," and which contained the cities of Belleville, East St. Louis and Alton. While Mr. Northcott was defeated in the democratic landslide of that year, yet he conducted his campaign in such manner as to gain him a state reputation. He received the Annapolis. He taught school for a time, meantime reading law, and was admitted to the bar in 1877, continuing his practice after he removed to Illinois in 1879. In 1880 President Hayes appointed him Supervisor of Census for the Seventh Illinois District. In 1882 he was elected state's attorney of Bond county by a majority of 252; was reelected in 1884 by a majority of 383; and was again elected to the same office in 1888 by a majority of 513. In 1890 President Harrison appointed him a member of the Board of Visitors to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, and he was selected by the Board to deliver the oration to the graduating class. In November, 1890, he was nomination for lieutenant-governor from the republican state convention in June, 1896, and at the election following received a majority of over 137,000 votes—being credited with a total of 601,829 to 464,475 for M. C. Crawford, democrat-populist. Governor Northcott made a magnificent campaign in 1896, speaking in nearly every county in the state.

March 31, 1880, Gov. Northcott married the daughter of Senator Dresser, of the present senate. Mrs. Northcott died in about a year, leaving a son, Nathaniel Dresser Northcott. Gov. Northcott's present wife was Miss Ada Stoutzenberg, of Marine, Madison county, and they have one child—Amy.

THE SENATE CHAMBER

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The General Assembly for the State of Illinois operates under a constitution adopted by the people in 1870—the fourth instrument of the kind that has been submitted to the people, and the third that has been ratified and adopted—the constitution of 1862 having been rejected at the polls. The general assembly meets biennially at noon on the first Wednesday after the first Monday in January in odd-numbered years. It consists of a senate and a house of representatives numbering on joint ballot, 204. This is the Fortieth General Assembly.

THE SENATE.

The Senate consists of 51 members, who are elected for four years, or two regular sessions. Senators from the odd-numbered districts are elected at the same time as state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction—1886, 1890, 1894, etc. Senators from even-numbered districts are elected in presidential years, 1888, 1892, 1896, etc. Until the present session of 1897 senators received $5 per diem during the session, $50 for stationery and 10 cents a mile for the actual distance from their homes to the state capital. By a law enacted in 1895 senators receive $1,000 for each regular session, stationery and mileage extra, and $5 per diem for special sessions. The new law does not apply to senators elected in 1894. The districts represented in the present General Assembly were organized in 1893 by the democrats. The senate of 1895 consisted of 18 democrats and 33 republicans. The senate of 1897 consists of 39 republicans, 11 democrats and 1 populist.

THE HOUSE.

The House of Representatives consists of 153 representatives, elected from 51 districts, every two years in November. They receive $1,000 for every regular session, and $50 for stationery and 10 cents a mile for the actual distance from their homes to the state capital. The system of minority representation maintains in Illinois. A voter is entitled to 3 votes for representative, and he can vote one for each of three candidates, 1½ votes for two candidates, or he can plump his three votes for one candidate. The present house was elected in 1896 and consists of 88 republicans, 61 democrats and 4 populists. The house in 1895 consisted of 92 republicans and 61 democrats. The democrats and populists combined their votes in many districts in 1896.

HENDRICK V. FISHER—Senate.

Col. Hendrick V. Fisher (rep.), of Geneseo, 33d district, president pro tempore of the senate, and in event of death or resignation of the lieutenant-governor, the successor of the latter under the constitution, is now serving his third term. He was born in Wilkesbarre, Pa., October 15, 1846, and received a good education at Wyoming Seminary, Pennsylvania. After his school days he entered the general offices of the D., L. & W. R. R., as clerk. In '68 he came west to Aurora, Illinois, where he engaged in the business of general merchandise. Later he embarked in the manufacture of stoves and hardware and moved to Geneseo in 1869.

1889 he was chairman of the Committee on Railroads, one of the most important in the house. He made a strong plea for a western hospital for the insane to be located in northwestern Illinois. The bill died on third reading. However, the measure became a law during the session of 1895. Senator Fisher's first year in the state senate. The hospital is located near Rock Island, in his district. He was, '89-'93, appointed by Gov. Fifer colonel and aide-de-camp on his staff.

Senator Fisher has been one of the leaders on his side of the chamber at every session of which he has been a member. He has always been a stalwart republican, and has been a prominent figure in state politics for many years. He was elected to the senate

SENATOR FISHER, PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE.

In 1890 Mr. Fisher married Miss Abbie F. Steele, of Geneseo, and they have three handsome little girls.

Mr. Fisher was a member of the house in '87, and though it was his first experience in the legislature he was given charge of the important committee of Canal and River Improvement. At that time there was strong talk of making a ship waterway between the Mississippi river and Lake Michigan. Mainly through his efforts the General Assembly passed a bill ceding to the federal government all the locks and dams on the Illinois and Michigan canal, for the purposes indicated. Work has begun on the Hennepin canal, and it is possible that the original intentions may yet be carried out. In 1894 by the large majority of 8,174 over his democratic opponent, although President Harrison carried the district by only 3,000 in 1892. He was chosen president pro tempore in the republican caucus in January, 1897, by acclamation. In the chair Senator Fisher is entirely fair and impartial. He has thus far made a most excellent impression on all senators.

Senator Fisher's great-grandfather was a Hollander, came to America in 1720, was President of the first Provincial Congress of New Jersey and chairman of the Committee of Safety. He was one of the founders of the Dutch Reformed church of America, and prominent in establishing Rutgers College, New Jersey.

SPEAKER ED. C. CURTIS.

Edward C. Curtis (rep.), of Grant Park, Speaker of the house, is probably the youngest man ever chosen to the position of speaker in this state. He was born in Yellowhead township, Kankakee county, August 12, 1865. He is a son of Alonzo and Elizabeth (Campbell) Curtis. The Curtis family has nearly two centuries of honorable history in America, and were among the early settlers at the head of Lake Champlain. The Battle of Bennington was fought on the old Curtis homestead. Alonzo Curtis came to Illinois in 1852 and engaged in farming. About 1870 he removed to Grant Park and entered the mercantile business.

After completing his studies in the sion was endorsed by his people, and he was returned to the present house by an increased majority, receiving the nomination in convention by acclamation. He made a thorough campaign in his district for the republican ticket and spoke at many places outside of the district. He was made a candidate for speaker by his friends last January, the morning of the republican house caucus. Before night all the other candidates had withdrawn in his favor, and he was accorded the unusual distinction of being nominated by acclamation. Mr. Curtis is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, a Knight Templar, Odd Fellow, Modern Woodman, and other societies. He is not married.

As a speaker he is as fair as it is possible for a partisan to be when village, Ed Curtis spent some years at DuPauw University, Greencastle, Ind., and Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. In vacations he clerked in his father's store, and after college he took charge of this branch of his father's business. A banking department was soon afterwards added, and the Grant Park Banking Co. organized, of which Ed C. Curtis became cashier, a position he now holds.

Although active in politics Mr. Curtis never held an office until 1895, when, as a member of the house, he took a pronounced stand in favor of economy in public expenditures and in opposition to legislative corruption. The record he made during that ses-confronted by able political opponents. His thorough knowledge of parliamentary law and practice has been demonstrated on more than one occasion. In order to facilitate business and close the labors of the session, Speaker Curtis instituted a much-needed reform in the Illinois house on April 7. The democratic side refused to vote, thus breaking a quorum, and Speaker Curtis noted on the journal the names of eighteen democrats who were present and not voting. He has surprised political friend and foe by exhibiting a thorough knowledge of parliamentary law and practice. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

HENRY H. EVANS—Senate.

Henry H. Evans (rep.), of Aurora, 14th district, is the oldest member of the General Assembly in consecutive service. He was elected to the house of representatives in 1876, and in 1880 was promoted to the senate. His reelection followed regularly in 1884, 1888, 1892, and 1896, and when Senator Evans completes his present term he will have served continuously for twenty years in the state senate. Only once during all that time was there serious opposition to his reelection by democrats or republicans, and that was in 1888, when an independent republican ran against him. Senator Evans' majority, however, was about the usual size. His majority in 1896 was almost 10,000.

Senator Evans took a prominent part. The senatorial contest between Gen. John A. Logan and Col. Wm. R. Morrison in 1885 was one of the most prolonged battles of its kind, and several members died before the deadlock was finally settled. The General Assembly was a tie on joint ballot. At that time Senator Evans' advice was sought and heeded on many occasions. The battle of 1891 when the three farmers held the balance of power in the General Assembly between the two great parties tried the stalwart republicanism of Senator Evans. Many of the republican leaders, eager to defeat a democrat for United States senator, were so anxious to accomplish that end that they attempted to force republicans to vote for A. J. Streeter, populist. But Senator Evans, at the head of a

SENATOR EVANS, DEAN OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Senator Evans was born in Toronto, Canada, March 9, 1836, and in 1841 his parents moved to Aurora, taking him with them.

His record in the Illinois legislature is a long and honorable one. At every session he was not only prominent but one of the leaders who made and unmade laws for the people of Illinois. At every session excepting one, he was the leader of the controlling element in the senate. Some of the greatest legislative battles ever fought have been witnessed in Springfield, and in every one of them determined old guard, declared he never would vote for Streeter, even if the caucus decided for him. At the same time he was willing to vote for any republican the caucus might select. His constituents endorsed his action by returning him to the senate the next year by an increased majority. Senator Evans is financially interested in real estate and corporate property in Kane and Cook counties to a large extent. He is very influential in the senate, and his long experience in state affairs has given him a wide acquaintance with public men.

COL. CHAS. BOGARDUS—Senate.

Col. Charles Bogardus (rep.), of Paxton, 18th district, one of the oldest members in point of consecutive service, was born in Cayuga county, New York, March 28, 1841, and at the age of six was left an orphan. In a "catch-as-catch-can" way he obtained a fair common school education and began working in a country store at the age of twelve. For nine years he practiced industry and frugality, meantime learning from school books and the wider school, the world, practical lessons. In 1862 he enlisted as a private in the 151st New York infantry; was elected first lieutenant of his in farm lands as buyer and seller, and himself owns and operates many magnificent farms in the fertile prairies of eastern-central and northern Illinois. Col. Bogardus is a practical farmer; the latest improvements in machinery and modern methods are employed on his property.

In 1862 Col. Bogardus married Miss Hannah W. Pells, of Orleans county, N. Y. They have but one child living.

Senator Bogardus has a long and honorable record in Illinois politics beginning with his first session in the Illinois house in 1885, an experience that tried every member as with fire. It was the famous session when Gen. Logan and Col. Morrison so long fought for election as United States company, and his conduct was such that he was soon promoted to a captaincy. Later on he was promoted to the lieutenant-colonelcy of his regiment, and was brevetted to a colonelcy, "for gallant and meritorious services before Petersburg." He was once severely wounded, and captured by the enemy. Colonel Bogardus participated in some of the fiercest battles of the war—among which are the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, Petersburg and Appomattox. In 1872 he came to Illinois, to Ford county, which has since been his home. In 1885 he was appointed colonel and aide-de-camp by Gov. Oglesby, and was reappointed in 1889 by Gov. Fifer. He has dealt extensively senator, and the legislature was evenly divided politically. Senator Bogardus demonstrated his ability as a leader, and was rewarded with a return to the house in 1887. He was selected chairman of the republican caucus in 1887. In 1888 he was advanced to the senate, and in the sessions of 1889, 1893 and 1897 was chairman of the committee to make up the senate committees for the republicans. He was reelected in 1892 to the senate, and in 1895 was chosen president pro tem by acclamation in the republican caucus—the highest place in the gift of the senate. In 1895, in absence of governor and lieutenant-governor, he was constitutional governor for some time.

JAMES H. FARRELL—House.

James H. Farrell (dem.), of Chicago, 21st district, in point of continuous service the oldest member of the house of representatives, was born in the Isle of Jersey, November 19, 1842. Capt. Farrell's father was born in the Isle of Guernsey, where Victor Hugo lived in exile, and his mother in Dublin. All the education he received from school books was obtained before he was ten years old, but he has been a close observer and received a good education in contact with the world. He arrived in New York in 1851 and began life as a clerk. When nineteen years old the war fever attacked him, and he enlisted in Co. H great interest in politics, and is a democrat. The will of the majority as honestly expressed in a democratic convention or caucus always met his approbation. His experience in the army peculiarly fitted him for the part he has played in politics during the past ten years. The Marching Club of the County Democracy of Cook County, of which he is marshal, and which he has commanded ever since its organization, has made a name for itself all over the United States, principally through the untiring efforts of its commanding officer. There is nearly a regiment of marchers in the club, and they create a sensation wherever they go. During the presidential campaigns of 1892 and 1896 of the famous Fifth New York infantry, Col. Judson Kilpatrick, commanding, and beginning with the battle of Big Bethel, the first general engagement of the strife, he was in nearly every important battle and skirmish of the Army of the Potomac during the war. Honorably mustered out at the close of the struggle, he returned to peaceful pursuits, entering the largest wall paper manufacturing establishment in New York city, as clerk, and remained there until 1868, when he removed to Chicago, continuing in the same line for two years with G. L. Faxon & Co., on Lake street, before the big fire. He has been in the real estate business for the past twelve years, and it is his present occupation. Capt. Farrell has always taken

Capt. Farrell had charge of the organization of marching clubs in Illinois for the Democratic National and State Committees. He was elected grand marshal of the democratic marching clubs of the state in 1884, and still retains the title.

In the house Capt. Farrell has been a member of all the important committees since his first session—1887—he is now serving his sixth—twelve years. A leader in his party on the floor, constantly in his seat, and ever ready to oblige a friend if consistent with his duty to the people, Capt. Farrell is one of the best-liked members of the General Assembly. He lost his first wife by death in 1883 and four years later married his present wife.

CHARLES H. CRAWFORD—Senate.

Charles H. Crawford (rep.), of Chicago, 5th district, one of the most influential and aggressive members of the Illinois General Assembly, has been in the senate, excepting one term, since 1885, having been elected in 1884-1888-1894, and when his present term is completed will have been a member of the upper branch for twelve years. It is not too much to the republican party in the senate of every session, excepting the present one. He is now chairman of the Committee on Elections and member of the most important committees in the senate. A parliamentarian without a peer in the state, he is quick to see a point in debate, and his opposition is feared as much as his friendly interest is desired by senators with measures to advance.

Senator Crawford was born in Ben-say that his influence has been felt in every General Assembly of which he was a member on every measure of importance. Many of the leading bills were presented to the senate by Mr. Crawford himself. He is the author of the Crawford Primary Election Law, which has worked a much-needed reform in the conduct of primary elections by the two great political parties in Illinois. Senator Crawford has been one of the organizers of nington, Vermont, and was reared in Bureau and LaSalle counties, Illinois. He is a lawyer by profession, and has a large and lucrative practice. For twenty-two years he has lived in Chicago, and during that time has been prominent and active in republican party politics. He was elected to the state senate in 1894 by a majority of 10,000—6,000 more than the republicans had in the preceding election of 1892.

ORVILLE F. BERRY—Senate.

Orville F. Berry (rep.), of Carthage, 28th district, is one of the best parliamentarians in the country. He was born on a McDonough county farm, Feb. 16, 1852, and was early left an orphan. He obtained a fair common school education, however, and at the age of sixteen struck out for himself. At first he worked as a farm hand. Then he removed to Carthage, where he read law, and was admitted to the bar in 1877. Two years later he formed a partnership with Hon. Thomas C. Sharp, and in 1879 Senator Berry's brother, M. P., was added to the firm. They have had a very successful and lucrative practice, extending all over western Illinois.

Anna M. Barr, of Hancock county.

In 1888 the democrats of Illinois made a herculean effort to carry the state and the Hancock district was regarded as doubtful. The republicans were importuned to name their strongest man, and Senator Berry was induced to make the race. He was elected. In 1892 the democrats swept the state, Senator Berry's district giving Harrison only 187 majority; while his own majority was 244. But the legislature of 1893 was democratic and a new gerrymander was made, throwing Senator Berry into what was thought to be a hopelessly democratic district. In '96 by a political trick and without warrant of law his opponent's name was placed on the ballot under the democratic and populist columns, and apparently defeated

SENATOR BERRY.

Senator Berry has filled many places of honor and trust. In 1883 he was elected mayor of Carthage, and was twice reelected without opposition. He was secretary of the Hancock County Agricultural Board for four years. He is a Royal Arch Mason, a Knight of Pythias, a Modern Woodman, and member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen. He has been Grand Master Workman for Illinois, and several times has been supreme representative from the state to the Supreme Lodge. From the Supreme Lodge he has many times been chosen delegate to fraternal congresses.

In 1873 Senator Berry married Miss

Mr. Berry by about 100 votes. The latter contested, however, and was awarded the seat, the senate holding that the secretary of state illegally certified his opponent's name as a candidate of the populists. Senator Berry was chairman of the judiciary committee during the session of 1895 and was also chairman of the republican state convention in 1896. He has been a leader in the legislature every session when he was a member. He has also been very prominent in state politics, and has been in demand at caucuses and conferences of party leaders. For many years he has been a close personal friend of Gov. Tanner.

ISAAC B. CRAIG—House.

Isaac B. Craig (dem.), of Mattoon, 40th district, is the descendant of a revolutionary soldier, his paternal grandfather, Robert Craig, having fought all through the war of the revolution. Mr. Craig's father, Isaac N., was a pioneer of Illinois, coming to this state in 1828, and settling in Coles county, where he was a man of prominence and standing. He died in January, 1893, at the ripe age of 83, leaving a large estate. He was a careful, prudent business man, whose opinion in commercial transactions was sought by many. He was a soldier in the Black Hawk war.

in 1888 and again in 1890. In 1892 he was advanced to the state senate, and served for one term of two sessions. In 1896, although reluctant to again become a candidate, he consented to the use of his name for the house. He was elected, and was complimented by the democratic house caucus with the highest honor within its gift—the nomination for speaker. He was named by acclamation. In one sense it is an empty honor, and in another it carries great responsibility with it. The minority nominee for speaker names the minority membership on all the committees, and is the leader of his party in the house.

He was chairman of the joint caucus in 1891 and appointed the steering

Isaac B. Craig was born on his father's farm in Coles county, April 28, 1857, and received a good education in the public schools of his county and at Ann Arbor, Mich., and for fourteen years has been a very successful lawyer at Mattoon. His practice is not confined to Coles county, but extends to almost every county in eastern-central Illinois. He has always taken a deep interest in politics, and has been a prominent and influential figure in the democratic party since he attained his majority. Mr. Craig was elected to the house of representatives committee of democrats who so successfully led the party to victory in the contest for United States senator that session. It was one of the closest contests a general assembly ever met, and the result was in doubt from the start to the finish.

In 1882 Mr. Craig was married to Miss Helen Hasbrouck, who is a member of an old New York Knickerbocker family, very prominent in Ulster county, New York. They have three children—Helen Louise, aged 6; Gertrude, aged 4, and Kathryn, aged 1½.

Mr. Craig is a member of Godfrey de Bonillon Commandery, No. 44, Knights Templar, of Mattoon.

JOHN HUMPHREY—Senate.

John Humphrey (rep.), of Orland, Cook county, 7th district, is a lawyer by profession and an Englishman by birth. He was born in the county of Norfolk, England, June 20, 1838, and was brought to this country by his parents when a lad of ten years. The family settled in Cook county, Illinois, where Senator Humphrey received a common school education. He read law in the office of Hon. James P. Root, and was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1872. He lives in Orland and practices his profession with an office in the Monadnock building, Chicago.

Senator Humphrey owns a large session by the introduction of two bills of great importance. One of them provides for a commission to be appointed by the governor, which is given the power of granting franchises to all street railroads in Illinois, and the authority to pass on all regulations of street car lines, including the time card, heating apparatus, seating capacity, speed, motive power, etc. This commission is also empowered to decide whether there shall be any extensions of old lines or the establishment of new lines, and its powers are almost absolute. The municipalities are to be recompensed for the privileges granted the street car corporations, by receiving from one to seven per cent on the gross earnings of the amount of farming land in Cook county. He has been treasurer of Orland for 24 years and supervisor of his township for 28 years. He has been president of the board of trustees of Orland for five years, and still holds the office, although he has not desired it. He was bailiff under Sheriff Bradley, of Cook county, for a time.

Senator Humphrey is one of the oldest members in point of consecutive service in the General Assembly. He was elected to the house in '70, '80 and '84, and was advanced to the senate in the next general election, 1886, and returned in 1890, in the face of determined opposition, and was again elected in 1894 by an enormous majority.

lines, the per cent being determined by the population and time in which the franchise operates. The bill is only operative on corporations that accept its provisions. The franchises of such are extended for fifty years from September, 1897. The bills passed the senate April 16, 1897.

The startling provisions of the measures attracted the attention particularly of all the street railways in the state, and especially those in Chicago. If they become laws they will curtail the powers and perquisites of alder men in Chicago and every other city in the state. Senator Humphrey is an able man, a clear and forcible talker in debate, well posted in parliamentary law, and thoroughly familiar with all the ways of a legislature.

HOMER F. ASPINWALL—Senate.

Homer F. Aspinwall (rep.), of Freeport, 12th district, was born in Stephenson county, Illinois, November 15, 1846. He was born on a farm and has lived on a farm all his life. His education was such as was furnished by the district schools of his boyhood, and was completed in the Freeport high school, from which he graduated. After his school days, he entered a wholesale notion store as clerk, remaining for two years. Later he returned to the farm and has been a practical agriculturist ever since. Senator Aspinwall owns 265 acres of 1896 Senator Aspinwall, whose record in the senate in the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth General Assemblies, entitled him to consideration at the hands of the republican state convention, was importuned by many friends all over the state to permit the use of his name for a place on the state ticket. The neighboring county of Winnebago, to which Stephenson is attached by ties of the strongest kind politically, had a candidate for state auditor, and Senator Aspinwall did not feel that he ought to jeopardize the chances of any candidate from his own section by dividing the delegates. He gave a loyal and hearty support to the Winnebago candidate,

He was first elected to the state senate in 1892, and was reelected in 1896, receiving 11,573 votes, to 7,567 for William A. Barber, democrat.

Northern Illinois has not been recognized by the republican party since Gen. Smith ran for state treasurer, away back early in the 80's, and the enormous republican vote and the heavy republican majorities in that section have more than once saved the party banner from being captured by the enemy at state elections. In some quarters, Senator Aspinwall's name is being discussed as a suitable candidate for higher honors and his record in the senate for three sessions—1893, 1895, 1897—will redound to his advantage. No member of the General Assembly has done more for the people of the state than Senator Aspinwall. He is regarded as one of the leaders in the senate, and a man of standing in the counsels of his party in the state.

Senator Aspinwall is a 32d degree Mason. He was married in 1874 to Miss Emma M. Sheetz, and they have two children.

FREEMAN P. MORRIS—House.

Freeman P. Morris (dem.), of Watseka, 16th district, chairman of the democratic house caucus, was born on a farm in Cook county, Illinois, March 19, 1854. He labored on the farm after the manner of all farmer boys and attended the district school when his work permitted. He completed his education in Chicago and graduated from the Union College of Law of that city. In 1874, when twenty years of age, he was admitted to practice at the bar in 1896. He has held various local offices, and has been a member of the General Assembly of Illinois five times—now serving his fifth term. He was a member of the house in 1885, 1889, 1893, 1895 and 1897.

At every session Mr. Morris has had a great deal to do with every important bill or measure that has been considered. He is one of the best lawyers in the legislature, and on the judiciary committee, as well as on the floor of the house, always commands attention from the members. Mr. Morris has been chairman

In 1882 Mr. Morris married Minnie D. Lott, of Denver, Colo., and they live in a handsome home in Watseka. They have one son, Eugene, aged eight.

April 21, 1893, Gov. Altgeld appointed Mr. Morris colonel and aide-de-camp on his personal staff, an appointment which Col. Morris resigned in of the house caucus and of the steering committee every session. Always a democrat he has taken an active interest in furthering democratic policies and principles. During the presidential campaigns in 1892 and 1896 he made many speeches throughout the state for the democratic state and national ticket.

Mr. Morris is a member of Mary Commandery, Knights Templar, of Watseka. He was chancellor commander of the Watseka Knights of Pythias, and for six years was deputy chancellor of the same society.

ISAAC M. HAMILTON—Senate.

Isaac Miller Hamilton (rep.), of Cissna Park, 16th district, was born in Ash Grove, Iroquois county, Illinois, September 6, 1864, and received a common school education. His father died when he was eleven years of age and young Hamilton was compelled to leave school and begin life for himself. He worked for a stock buyer and later entered business for himself. He combined this with work in a general merchandise store, and valued clients in Chicago, and they have brought him much important litigation. He was never a candidate for office until last year. He was elected senator by the largest majority ever given a senator from his district. He is executive committeeman-at-large for Illinois of the National League of Republican Clubs, chairman of the Campaign Committee of the National Republican League, and member of the Executive Committee of the Illinois League of Republican Clubs. During the campaign of 1896 in 1881 he formed a partnership, under the firm name of Young & Hamilton, which has existed ever since. In 1886 a banking business was added, and three years later the general merchandise store and stock buying were disposed of, and the firm is now exclusively in the banking and real estate business. In 1889 Senator Hamilton was admitted to the bar and since that time has devoted himself almost exclusively to his law practice, which has grown to be very large and remunerative. He has numerous he made many speeches in Michigan, Kentucky and Tennessee for the Republican National Committee, besides making a thorough canvass of his own district. He is a 32d degree Mason, a Knight Templar, a Shriner, and a Knight of Pythias. He is not married. He was appointed executor of the great Cissna estate some time ago, and in a day made a bond of half a million dollars, thirty-five of his friends and neighbors signing his bond, an evidence of the regard in which he is held in his home county.

ALMET POWELL—House.

Almet Powell (rep.), of Gilman, 16th district, was born in Albany county, New York, March 20, 1846, and came to Illinois in 1855, to Lawn Ridge, Marshall county, where his father engaged in the business of general merchandise. His son, Almet, acted as clerk in the store. Mr. Powell received a good common school education, such as was furnished in the district schools of Illinois of early days, but he learned more in the broad school of life, in contact with men. In 1871 Mr. Powell moved to Gilman, Iroquois county, and established himself in the same line of trade as was pursued by his father. He now owns one of the largest and most complete general merchandise stores in Iroquois county. It is really a department store, for about everything is handled except hardware, drugs and agricultural implements.

Mr. Powell owns many acres of fine farming lands near Gilman, and has always taken a practical interest in agriculture. This is his first political office of prominence, although he has served in various township offices. He always has been a staunch republican and cast his first vote for Gen. U. S. Grant for president. His father, Leander Powell, was an old-fashioned William Penn Quaker, and possessed of all the traditional virtues of that strict sect, including an aversion to quarrels and wars, and his standard of honesty and square dealing was measured in the Quaker balance. He reared his children in the same strict school, and the lessons learned in boyhood have not been thrown away in manhood, for no man stands higher in the community than the son of Quaker parents who followed the precepts of his fathers. Leander Powell was born in Albany county, New York, and came from a long line of Welsh ancestors. Representative Powell is a member of Mt. Olive Commandery No. 38, Knights Templar, of Paxton. He is chairman of the committee on Live Stock and Dairying, and has taken great interest in state affairs all his life, but has never been an active office seeker. He is a member of the joint steering committee of the house and senate. He married Miss Cordella Borthwick, of Albany county, N. Y., and they have one son, Bruce B., now 22 years old.

C. M. NETTERSTROM—Senate.

Charles M. Netterstrom (rep.), of Chicago, 21st district, was born in Norway, September 24, 1847. Five years later he moved with his parents to Chicago, where he was educated in the public schools, and has lived ever since. trustee, from 1880 to 1887. The last time he was a candidate he received every vote that was cast—no opposition. He was nominated for the state senate by acclamation, and elected over his democratic opponent by a majority of 3,414.

In 1869 Senator Netterstrom married Miss Anna M. Anderson, and they have three sons, two daughters and two grandsons—Carl Netterstrom Allander is the eldest.

Mr. Netterstrom is not a politician—he is too good a business man to take kindly to politics as a profession.

SENATOR NETTERSTROM.

The new Criminal Court Building in Chicago, on the North Side, was erected and finished under his supervision. One remarkable circumstance in connection with this building, and one of which Senator Netterstrom is proud, is the fact that in all the thousands of dollars expended under his superintendency, there was not a dollar of expense for "extras" charged against Cook county.

Senator Netterstrom lives in Lake View, and he served that township for six years as commissioner and

His position in the state senate is practically the only political office he ever filled. He is not an office seeker, and probably for this reason wields a great deal of influence in the politics of Cook county. In the session of 1895 as well as in the present session he has been favored with a list of good committees, and is disposed to apply business rules, rather than a strict partisan standard to legislative work. He has been a staunch republican since he became of age.

ROBERT B. FORT—Senate.

Robert B. Fort (rep.), of Lacon, 20th district, was born in Lacon, April 25, 1867, and received his education in the public schools of Washington, D. C., at Wyman Institute, and at Exeter, N. H., taking the classical course. Mr. Fort has been a farmer all his life, operating large farms in Illinois and Nebraska. He was elected mayor of Lacon in 1895, and he resigned to take his seat in the senate. He has always been a republican and has taken an active part in the politics of his section of the state, although this is the first office of state importance he ever held. Mr. Fort's father, Hon. Greenbury L. Fort, was a member of Senator Fort's maternal grandfather, Dr. Robert Boal, served several terms in the Illinois legislature with credit. He was born in Danphin county, Pa., and graduated from the Medical College of Ohio in '28. He is now the oldest living alumnus of that institution. In '36 he removed to Lacon, Ill., where he practiced medicine for twenty-five years. He was elected to the state senate in '44 and was instrumental in establishing the hospital for the insane at Jack-the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth congresses, and was one of the eminent men of his day. Senator Fort is not married. He was elected from a district that gave a democratic majority of about 1,700 in 1892.

Senator Fort's father was born in Sciota county, O., and removed with his parents to Marshall county, Ill., where he was raised on a farm. He completed his education at Mt. Morris, Ill., where he was a schoolmate with Congressman Hitt. At the age of 24 he was elected sheriff of Marshall county after which he was elected circuit clerk, and subsequently probate judge, which position he held when in sonville, the first in the state. He was also active in advocating the Illinois and Michigan canal. In '54 he was elected to the house, and in the session of '55 voted for Lincoln for senator until the latter insisted on Trumbull being elected. Next year he was a delegate to the first republican state convention, which met at Bloomington. The same year he was again returned to the house. Gov. Bissell appointed Dr. Boal trustee for the deaf and dumb institution, and he served in that capacity for 17 years. In '65 he removed to Peoria, practicing his profession there 25 years. In '93 he retired from active work, and returned to his old home, Lacon.

CHARLES E. HULL—Senate.

Charles E. Hull (dem.), of Salem, 42d district, was born in Salem, Nov. 7, 1862, and graduated from the Salem High School in '77. He entered the Southern Illinois Normal, taking the classical course, and graduated with class honors in '80. He has followed the business of his father and grandfather—that of general merchants.

In '82 Senator Hull married Miss Lulu Hammond, daughter of Hon. J. E. W. Hammond, of Salem, who was a member of the house in '79, and was a prominent merchant and influential democrat before his death. They have one child—a daughter.

In addition to his regular line of business he was interested in and a director of the Salem National Bank from its organization and operated a large flouring and saw mill. He was a staunch democrat and was prominent in county politics, being chairman of the county board for years. In company with the Senator's grandfather, he established a general store in Salem in '53. In 1880 Senator Hull entered the business which has been extended and increased until there are now six general stores in Marion county in which the Senator is financially interested. His maternal grandfather, William Finley, was one of the pioneer preachers of southern Illinois and organized many of the early Cumberland Presbyterian churches. His paternal grandfather, Samuel Hull, was a veteran of the Black Hawk war and a prominent politician, being in office continuously from '33 until '61, holding successively the offices of recorder, sheriff, county judge and postmaster. He was sheriff six times, the last five having no opposition. He was a democrat up to 1861, when he became a republican. He is also largely interested in farming and personally superintends the operation of the old country seat of Judge Hull, most of which is within the city limits of the old town of Salem. This farm has had but three owners—the United States, Judge Hull and the Senator.

Senator Hull was elected to the state senate after a fierce battle against the republican candidate, in 1896. He is an untiring worker, and made a close canvass of his district. He is editor and publisher of the Salem "Herald-Advocate," the oldest paper in the county, and an influential democratic organ.

EDWARD J. DWYER—Senate.

Edward J. Dwyer (rep.), of Chicago, 17th district, one of the leaders in the senate, was born in Chicago November 21, 1861, and educated in the public schools of that city. Leaving school, he was for six years superintendent of the mailing department of the Althrop Publishing House, and at the end of that time he entered politics. His first office was a clerical position in the city clerk's office in Chicago. In 1890 he was elected West Town Clerk, and after his term had expired was appointed assistant gerrymandered by the democrats in order to insure a democratic senator and two democrats as representatives. It was arranged for a democratic majority of 3,000. It was an enormous mountain to climb, but there were 382 more votes for Senator Dwyer than for his democratic opponent. Two democrats and one republican were chosen from the same district.

In 1894 Senator Dwyer was married to Miss Mollie Lawler, of Chicago.

superintendent of the water department in the city government. In 1892 he was elected West Town Assessor, an office of great responsibility. He was the only republican who won at that election, and the same was true of his election as clerk in 1890. Senator Dwyer took an active part in the election of Mayor Hempstead Washburn, and was selected by the latter as Superintendent of Water Department.

Senator Dwyer's energy as well as his popularity among the people of his district, was demonstrated when he became a candidate for state senator in 1894. The district had been

With four colleagues he arranged with a majority of the republican senators to control the republican senate caucus in January, 1897. Inasmuch as the republicans had a two-thirds majority in the senate, it was a virtual control of the organization.

Mr. Dwyer is the chairman of the Committee on Municipalities this session, the most important committee in the senate for a Cook county member. He was appointed deputy city clerk of Chicago in 1895, and retained the office until the democrats took charge in April, 1897. He is in control of the republican party organization in the 17th ward of Chicago.

JAMES BRANEN—House.

James Branen (dem.), of Sycamore, 29th district, is serving his second term in the house—an unusual circumstance for a minority representative in northern Illinois. The twenty-ninth district is overwhelmingly republican. Mr. Branen was born in Ireland January 1, 1848, and when he was six months old his parents moved to Oneida county, New York, where he

There was great opposition manifested to it in house and senate. As a mark of appreciation of his efforts in behalf of the county, for securing the only state institution in the district, Mr. Branen was importuned in 1896 to become a candidate a second time for representative. He consented and received a good common school education. He attended school and worked on a farm until twenty years old, when he entered an Oneida hotel as clerk, remaining for several years. In 1870 he moved to DeKalb county, Illinois, and has filled various positions since. He never was a candidate for office until 1894 when the democrats of DeKalb induced him to accept the nomination to the legislature. In the session of 1895 Mr. Branen was a member of the minority party, but so energetic was his work in committee was elected, sacrificing his own business interests.

Mr. Branen is a member of all the important committees in the house. When the supreme court consolidation bill was under consideration he championed Ottawa, and so successfully did he labor that the bill passed the house with Ottawa substituted for Springfield, the state capital. The senate, however, amended the bill by again substituting Springfield, and the house finally concurred in the amendment.

Selby, Charles E. (rep.), of Springfield, 39th district, was born in Lancaster, O., October 7, 1855, and was educated at the Danville (Ind.) Normal. He moved to Sangamon county in '75, taught school for a time, read law and was admitted to the bar in '88. He is a Mason, a K. P., Odd Fellow and M. W. A. He is married and has one son and two daughters. As a boy he worked on a farm in summer to obtain money to attend school in winter. Since his admission to the bar he has enjoyed an excellent practice. Mr. Selby is now serving his second term in the house, having been elected in '94 and '96. He was a prominent candidate for speaker the present session, and was regarded as possessing all the qualifications for the place. Mr. Selby is one of the leaders of the house, is chairman of the republican steering committee,

In 1857 he married Miss Elizabeth Richardson, who died in '96, being survived by one son and one daughter. It was Senator Isaac Funk, father of Mr. Funk, who, in the state senate in '63, when an effort was being made to kill an appropriation for Illinois soldiers in the field, hurled the fiercest invectives at the enemies of his country, and for his courage on that occasion no history of Illinois is complete without the incident. Mr. Funk is a Mason.

Bryan, Charles, P. (rep.), of Elmhurst, 14th district, was born in Chicago, October 2, 1855. He was educated at the University of Virginia and the Columbia Law School. He was admitted to practice in '78 and next year moved to Colorado. Col. Bryan was elected to the legislature of that state in '80, and was urged for higher preferment. He returned to Chicago in '83, and has since led a literary life. Col. Bryan was a member of Gov. Oglesby's and Gov. Fifer's military staffs with the rank of colonel, having previously served in the First regiment, I. N. G., and in the Guard of Colorado. Col. ble positions for over five years. Born of hardy Michigan stock, the great California boom of 1886 attracted the wideawake young man, and a printer's case on the leading republican daily of Santa Ana gave him his first opportunity to embark in the field of journalism. But such talents as his could not but gain recognition, and he soon worked up from the case to the position of editor-in-chief, resigning in '89 to go to Chicago, where his efforts have already won for him a high position in his chosen profession. He is married and lives in Buena Park.

MR. DAVIS.

John McCan Davis, in charge of the Associated Press and St. Louis Globe-Democrat, did his first newspaper work at Canton, Ill., as local editor of the Canton Republican. Afterward

Evening Press, absorbed the Evening Journal. The title, "Evening Press" was dropped, and the old Evening Journal received all the push and brains and dash that characterized the Press. Mr. Gardner's work for the Journal the present session has been characterized by the sharp, spicy paragraphs that are a characteristic of the new management of the Journal. Unhampered by "the office," his matter is always interesting.

John M. Glenn, of Chicago, in charge of the legislative bureau of the Chicago Times-Herald since the resignation of Mr. Lahiff, who lately became private secretary to Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, is the local political editor of the Times-Herald, and has been on that paper since Dec., '95. at the Illinois bar. Preferring the occupation of journalist he deserted the law to accept a position with the Chicago Daily News. A year later he ald. In '88 he married Miss Jeannie Chapin, and they have three children. Mr. Glenn has had a wide experience, is a breezy writer, and a great hustler for exclusive news. He is a son of Judge J. J. Glenn, of Monmouth, who has been on the bench for 20 years.

He was in charge of the St. Louis agency of the Associated Press when he was ordered to Springfield to report the general assembly.

MR. WILL GLENN

His thoroughness and care in handling great assignments made him an invaluable man for great occasions. He was not only a journalist by close application, but by instinct, and was very popular with his colleagues and members of the legislature.

Edward M. Lahiff, in charge of the bureau of the Chicago Times-Herald.

is one of the brightest young newspaper men that ever burned the wires from Springfield during a legislative session. He lives in Chicago and has been a member of the Herald staff for the past seven years. He is known and popular with every politician of any note, in all parties, in Chicago. Mr. Lahiff has had charge of the Herald bureau at many notable conventions and assemblies, and always acquitted himself creditably. The correspondent who scored a "beat" on him earned the privilege of boasting about it. He is an Irishman by birth, and although a gentleman of education and culture, spent his first year in America shoveling coal on a coal dock in Detroit owned by W. P. Rend. Mr. Lahiff is 34 years old and went to Chicago in 1886. He was appointed a Cook county civil service commissioner early in 1897, and in his career as a newspaper man has been very successful. In April, 1897, Mayor Carter H. Harrison appointed Mr. Lahiff his private secretary and he resigned his newspaper connection. In 1895 Mr. Lahiff married Eileen Malone of Cork, Ireland, and they have one son.

George Cushing Sikes has acted as legislative correspondent for the Chicago Record for the 39th and 40th general assemblies. Mr. Sikes learned the printer's trade in a country office at Dodge Center, Minn., the place of his birth. While acquiring his education he made his living by working at his trade on the Minneapolis Tribune. He graduated from the University of Minnesota in '92. After that he served on the Minneapolis Tribune as proofreader, reporter and telegraph editor. The last named position he left in the fall of '93 to put in a year of graduate study in political economy and political science at the University of Chicago, from which institution he holds a master's degree. For the last six months of '94 Mr. Sikes worked as copy editor on the Chicago Tribune. Since then he has been with the Record and for eighteen months previous to coming to Springfield he was editorial writer on that paper. Mr. Sikes takes special interest in social and municipal problems and in questions relating to labor. While an active printer he took deep interest in the affairs of the Typographical Union and was once president of the organization at Minneapolis. In order better to study social problems and conditions he spent some two years in residence at Hull House, the social settlement at 335 South Halsted street, Chicago. Mr. Sikes is 29 years old. He was married Feb. 6, 1897, to Miss Madeleine Wallin, daughter of Judge Wallin, of the North Dakota supreme court.

Dwight Wilcox, in charge of the Morning Monitor and Post-Dispatch bureaus, although young, has had quite an experience in the newspaper line. He was born in Sangamon county, June 2, 1867, and graduated from the Springfield High School. His first active work was on the Monitor in '88, and his first legislative session was in '93, when he was with the Associated Press bureau. He was also with the same concern in '95, and has had a long experience with Chicago and northwestern dailies. At the World's Fair he was attached to the Associated Press bureau on the fair grounds, and his work there was so thorough and readable that he commended himself to his chief. He is not married.

term and held other offices. He became a railway postal clerk early in the 80's, resigning to become assistant postmaster of DuQuoin, which position he held for six years. He was local correspondent at DuQuoin for the St. Louis Chronicle, Globe-Democrat, Inter Ocean and Associated Press, positions he held for ten or more years. He established the DuQuoin Evening News in '88. In '90 he relinquished the pen for a position as clerk in the secretary of state's office, which he held until the democrats released him from further service. Mr. Hamilton then accepted a position with the St. Louis Chronicle, which paper he still represents. He also represented the Chicago Times and does special work for New York, Cincinnati, Louisville, and Peoria papers, and for the past four years has furnished copy for the Journal, Register and Associated Press in Springfield, principally political and state capitol work. He has represented the St. Louis Chronicle for the last three general assemblies. Mr. Hamilton is married and has two sons and two daughters. He is an ardent republican.

Mr. Pickering was born seven miles east of Neoga, Sept. 12, 1860. His father died in '65, leaving no property and three small children to the care of his mother. In '67 the family moved to Neoga, and in '69 to Arcola, which was his home until '78, when he went to Peoria. In '83 he fixed his residence at Springfield. The same year he married Miss Etta Rountree, of Nashville, Ill., and they have two sons and two daughters.

ILLINOIS TERRITORY.

The Illinois Territory was established by act of Congress, approved Feb. 3, 1809, which provided as follows :

"That from and after the first day of March next, all that part of the Indiana Territory which lies west of the Wabash river and a direct line drawn from the said Wabash river and Post Vincennes due north, to the territorial line between the United States and Canada, shall, for the purpose of temporary government, constitute a separate territory, and be called 'Illinois.' "

The seat of government was fixed at Kaskaskia. The territorial government was continued under the first grade from 1809 until 1812, when by a vote of the people the second grade was adopted. Under the first grade, the Governor and Judges, who received their appointment from the President, constituted the Legislative Council, and enacted laws for the government of the people. The Governor possessed almost unlimited power in the appointment of officers; the Secretary of the Territory being the only officer not appointed by the Governor. Under the second grade, the people elected the Legislature, which was composed of a Legislative Council and a House of Representatives. The Legislative Council was composed of five members, and the House of Representatives of seven members.

The Legislature enacted the laws for the government of the people, but the Governor was possessed of the absolute veto power, and was therefore in a position to dictate the laws, if he chose to exercise the power.

The people also elected the Delegate to Congress by popular vote.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Under the constitution of 1818 the elective officers were the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, who held office for four years. The election returns were transmitted by the returning officers, directed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, whose duty it was to open and publish them in the presence of a majority of each house of the General Assembly. In case of a tie the choice was made by a joint ballot of both houses. The first election for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor was held on the third Thursday of September, 1818. Thereafter the elections were held every four years on the first Monday of August.

The Secretary of State was appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer and Attorney-General were elected by the General Assembly, and held office for two years respectively.

By the constitution of 1848 all these officers were made elective by the people, except the Attorney General, which office was abolished. The term of office for each was four years, except the Treasurer, which was two years.

The office of Attorney-General was again created by law in 1867, and the term fixed at two years. The office was first filled by appointment by the Governor, and at the expiration of the term by election by the people.

The constitution of 1870 provides that the Executive Department shall consist of a Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Attorney-General, who shall each, with the exception of the Treasurer, hold office for four years from the second Monday in January next after election. The Treasurer holds office for two years, and is ineligible for re-election until the expiration of two years next after the end of his term. The first election under the constitution of 1870 was held Nov. 5, 1872.

By a law passed in 1849 the Secretary of State was made ex-officio State Superintendent of Public Schools. In 1854 the law establishing a system of free schools created the office of State Superintendent, and provided for the appointment by the Governor, upon the taking effect of the law, of some person to hold office until the election in 1855, when a State Superintendent should be elected, and every two years thereafter.

The offices of Adjutant-General, State Geologist, and Entomologist, etc., are created by law, and filled by appointment.

[NOTE.—The early records on all State offices are very unsatisfactory.]

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

APPORTIONMENT.

The following are the apportionments for members of the General Assembly from 1818 to 1893, inclusive:

APPORTIONMENT UNDER THE CONSTITUTION OF 1818.

Section 5, Article II. of the constitution of 1818 provided that—

“The number of Senators and Representatives shall, at the first session of the General Assembly holden after the returns herein provided for are made, be fixed by the General Assembly, and apportioned among the several counties or districts to be established by law, according to the number of white inhabitants. The number of Representatives shall not be less than twenty-seven nor more than thirty-six, until the number of inhabitants within this State shall amount to 100,000; and the number of Senators shall never be less than one-third or more than one-half of the number of Representatives.”

Section 8 of the Schedule provided that the representation of the first General Assembly should be as follows:

“Section 8. Until the first census shall be taken as directed by this constitution, the county of Madison shall be entitled to one Senator and three Representatives; the county of St. Clair, to one Senator and three Representatives; the county of Bond, to one Senator and one Representative; the county of Washington, to one Senator and one Representative; the county of Monroe, to one Senator and one Representative; the county of Randolph, to one Senator and two Representatives; the county of Jackson, to one Senator and one Representative; the counties of Johnson and Franklin, to form one Senatorial district, and to be entitled to one Senator, and each county one Representative; the county of Union, to one Senator and two Representatives; the county of Pope, to one Senator and two Representatives; the county of Gallatin, to one Senator and three Representatives; the county of White, to one Senator and three Representatives; the county of Edwards, to one Senator and three Representatives; and the county of Crawford, to one Senator and two Representatives.”

Apportionments were made by law as follows:

Feb. 14, 1821: Senate, 18; House, 36. Jan. 12, 1826: Senate, 18; House, 36. Feb. 7, 1831: Senate, 26; House, 55. Jan. 14, 1836, the ratio for a Senator was fixed at 7,000 white inhabitants, and for a Representative, 3,000. By this law the State was entitled to 40 Senators and 91 Representatives. Feb. 26, 1841, the ratio for a Senator was fixed at 12,000, and for a Representative, 4,000. The Senate consisted of 41 members, and the House of Representatives of 121 members.

Under the last two apportionments made, the membership of the General Assembly varies one or two from the number designated by the acts—probably owing to a variation of population.

Feb. 25, 1847, another apportionment was made, by which the ratio was fixed at 19,000 for a Senator, and 6,500 for a Representative. The Senate was made to consist of 34 and the House 100 members; but before an election was held under this law the constitution of 1848 was adopted, and the apportionment made thereby took effect.

APPORTIONMENT UNDER THE CONSTITUTION OF 1848.

Section 6, Article III., of the constitution of 1848 provided:

“Section 6. The Senate shall consist of 25 members, and the House of Representatives shall consist of 75 members, until the population of the State shall amount to one million of souls, when five members may be added to the House and five additional members for every 500,000 inhabitants thereafter, until the whole number of Representatives shall amount to 100; after which, the number shall neither be increased nor diminished; to be apportioned among the several counties according to the number of white inhabitants. In all future apportionments, where more than one county shall be thrown into a representative district, all the Representatives to which said counties may be entitled shall be elected by the entire district.” By section 8 of the same article, an apportionment was required to be made in the year 1853, and every tenth year thereafter. Section 40, same article, apportioned the representation in the General Assembly at 25 Senators and 75 Representatives, and divided the State into districts, as follows:

APPORTIONMENT UNDER THE CONSTITUTION OF 1870.

Section 13 of the Schedule, constitution of 1870, provided that, upon the adoption of the new constitution, the Governor and Secretary of State should immediately thereafter proceed to fix the apportionment for members of the House of Representatives; the apportionment to be based upon the United States Census of 1870, if the same should be ascertained in time thereafter; if not, then to be based upon the State Census of 1865. The ratio of representation in the House was to be ascertained by dividing the population of the State by 153—the quotient to be the ratio; every county or district, when its population amounted to three-fifths of the ratio, to be entitled to one representative; each county or district having a population equal to a ratio and three-fifths, to be entitled to two representatives, and for each additional number of inhabitants equal to the ratio, one representative.

Section 14 of the Schedule directed that the districts should be regularly numbered, commencing with Alexander county, proceeding northwardly, and terminating with Cook.

Section 15 of the Schedule provided that the Senate, at its first session under the constitution of 1870, should consist of 50 members, being two for each district under the constitution of 1848.

The Minority-Representation section having been adopted, the legislative article of the constitution provides as follows:

The General Assembly shall apportion the State every ten years, beginning with the year 1871, by dividing the population of the State by 51, and the quotient shall be the ratio for representation in the Senate. The State shall be divided into 51 senatorial districts, each of which shall elect one senator, whose term of office shall be four years. The senators are elected every two years, in odd and even-numbered districts alternately, beginning with the even-numbered districts in 1872.

The House of Representatives consists of three times the number of members of the Senate, and the term of office is two years. Three representatives are elected in each senatorial district, at each general election for members of the General Assembly; the election occurring in each even-numbered year, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in the month of November. Each qualified voter may cast as many votes for one candidate as there are representatives to be elected, or may distribute the same, or equal parts thereof, among the candidates, as he shall see fit; and the candidates highest in votes shall be declared elected.

APPORTIONMENT OF 1870.

The representation in the Twenty-seventh General Assembly, which convened Jan. 4, 1871, being the first under the constitution of 1870, as apportioned by the Governor and Secretary of State, consisted of 50 Senators and 177 Representatives, and the State was divided into districts as follows:

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

We are indebted to the late Norman L. Freeman, Esq., Reporter of the Supreme Court, for the following interesting sketch of the early history of the Supreme and Circuit Courts under the constitutions of 1818, 1848 and 1870.

The first constitution of the State declared that the judicial power of the State of Illinois should be vested in one Supreme Court and such inferior courts as the General Assembly should, from time to time, ordain and establish.

The Supreme Court was vested with appellate jurisdiction only, except in cases relating to the revenue, in cases of mandamus, and such cases of impeachment as might be required to be tried before it. It consisted of a chief justice and three associates, though the number of justices might be increased by the General Assembly, after 1824.

The justices of the Supreme Court and the judges of the inferior courts were appointed by joint ballot of both branches of the General Assembly, and commissioned by the Governor, and held their offices during good behavior, until the end of the first session of the General Assembly which was begun and held after the first day of January, in the year 1824, at which time their commissions expired; and until that time the justices of the Supreme Court were required to hold the circuit courts in the several counties, in such manner and at such times, and were to have and exercise such jurisdiction, as the General Assembly should, by law, prescribe.

But after the period mentioned, the justices of the Supreme Court and the judges of the inferior courts held their offices during good behavior; and the justices of the Supreme Court were no longer compelled to hold the circuit courts unless required by law. The State was accordingly divided into four judicial circuits, within which the chief justice and associate justices of the Supreme Court were assigned to perform circuit duties, which they continued to do until the year 1824.

On the 29th of December, 1824, an act was passed declaring that, in addition to the justices of the Supreme Court, there should be appointed by that General Assembly five circuit judges, who should continue in office during good behavior, and by the same act the State was divided into five judicial circuits. Thus, for the first time, the justices of the Supreme Court were relieved from the performance of circuit duties, which now devolved upon the five circuit judges.

The circuit judges, however, were permitted to remain in office only about two years, as, by the act of 12th January, 1827, those sections of the act of 1824, which provided for the appointment of five circuit judges, and dividing the State into five judicial circuits, were repealed; and the State was again divided into four judicial circuits, in which the chief justice and three associate justices were again required to perform circuit duties.

The justices of the Supreme Court then continued to hold all the circuit courts until a circuit judge was elected by the General Assembly, in pursuance of the act of Jan. 8, 1829, which declared that there should be elected, by joint ballot of both branches of the General Assembly, at that session, one circuit judge, who should preside in the circuit to which he might be appointed, north of the Illinois river. A circuit judge was elected in pursuance of that act, and at the same time the Fifth judicial circuit was created, in which the circuit judge was required to preside, the justices of the Supreme Court continuing to perform their duties in the other four circuits.

The circuit courts continued to be thus held until the passage of the act of Jan. 7, 1835, by which all laws requiring the justices of the Supreme Court to hold the circuit courts were repealed, and it was provided that there should be elected by the General Assembly, at that session, five judges, in addition to the one then authorized by law, who should preside in the several circuit courts then or thereafter required to be held in the several counties in the State. The five additional circuit judges were accordingly elected, and at the same session the Sixth judicial circuit was created. The justices of the Supreme Court were thus again relieved from the performance of circuit duties, which, for the second time in the judicial history of the State, devolved upon the circuit judges exclusively.

The judiciary remained unchanged until 1841, the number of judicial circuits and of circuit judges being increased from time to time, as the business of the courts required. The Seventh judicial circuit was created by the act of Feb. 4, 1837, and an additional circuit judge was elected; and by the act of Feb. 23, 1839, the Eighth and Ninth circuits were created, and provision made for the election of two additional judges, which was done.

The judiciary of the State was reorganized by the act of Feb. 10, 1841, which repealed all former laws authorizing the election of circuit judges, or establishing the circuit courts, thus again legislating out of office all the circuit judges in the State. The act then provided that there should be appointed, by joint ballot of both branches of the General Assembly, at that session, five additional associate justices of the Supreme Court, who, in connection with the chief justice and the three associates then in office, should constitute the Supreme Court of the State. The State was at the same time divided into nine judicial circuits, and the chief justice and eight associate justices were required to perform circuit duties in those circuits; the circuit courts being again created at the same session. The judiciary as thus organized continued until the entire system was changed by the constitution of 1848.

CONSTITUTION OF 1848.

It has been seen that under the constitution of 1818, the Supreme Court was the only court created by that instrument, and the circuit courts had no existence except by legislative enactment; but upon organizing the judiciary as it existed under the constitution of 1848, the circuit courts constituted a part of the judicial system as created by the new constitution—it being declared in that instrument that the judicial power of the State shall be vested in one Supreme Court, in circuit courts, in county courts and in justices of the peace, and the General Assembly is authorized to establish inferior local courts of civil and criminal jurisdiction, in the cities of the State, but such courts must have uniform organization and jurisdiction in such cities.

The Supreme Court consisted of three judges. The State was divided into three grand divisions, the people in each division electing one of said judges, for the term of nine years; though after the first election of judges under the constitution, the General Assembly could provide by law for their election by the whole State, or by divisions, as they might deem most expedient; but no change in that respect was made, and the judges of the Supreme Court continue to be elected by divisions, as provided in the constitution.

These three grand divisions were established by the new constitution, but after the taking of each census by the State they might be altered, if necessary, to equalize them in population, the alteration being required to be made by adding to either of the districts such adjacent counties as would make them nearest equal in population. Appeals and writs of error could be taken from the circuit court of any county to the Supreme Court, held in the division which included such county; or with the consent of all parties in the cause, to the Supreme Court in the next adjoining division.

It is provided in the constitution, that the State should be divided into nine judicial circuits, but the General Assembly might increase the number to meet the future exigencies of the State. The number of circuits was afterwards increased from time to time, as the business of the courts required, so that there were thirty judicial circuits in the State, in all, created under the constitution of 1848. In each of the nine circuits the constitution required that one circuit judge should be elected by the people thereof, who should hold his office for the term of six years, and until his successor should be commissioned and qualified.

The first election for justices of the Supreme Court and judges of the circuit courts under the constitution, was required to be held on the first Monday of September, 1848, and it was further provided, that on the first Monday of June, 1855, and every sixth year thereafter, an election should be held for judges of the circuit courts; and whenever an additional circuit was created, such provision should be made as to hold the second election of such additional judge at the regular elections provided in the constitution. All vacancies, either in the Supreme or circuit courts, must be filled by an election by the people, though if the unexpired term did not exceed one year, such vacancy might be filled by executive appointment.

It was required that there should be two or more terms of the circuit court held annually in each county in the State, at such times as might be provided by law, and the circuit courts to have jurisdiction in all cases at law and in equity, and in all cases of appeal from all inferior courts.

Those were the constitutional provisions as to the organization and jurisdiction of the circuit courts as they existed under the constitution of 1848—the schedule to the constitution of 1848 further declaring, that the judges of the circuit courts should have and exercise the powers and jurisdiction conferred upon the former judges of those courts, subject to the provisions of this constitution.

CONSTITUTION OF 1870.

The constitution of 1870 vested the judicial powers in one Supreme Court, circuit courts, county courts, justices of the peace, police magistrates, and such courts as may be created by law, in and for cities and incorporated towns.

The Supreme Court consists of seven judges, and has original jurisdiction, similar to that granted by the constitution of 1848. There is one chief justice, selected by the court; four judges constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of four judges is necessary to a decision. The three grand divisions established by the constitution of 1848 for holding the Supreme Court are retained in the present constitution. The terms of the court, the judicial divisions and places of holding court are regulated by law.

The State, for the election of supreme judges, is divided, by the constitution, into seven districts, one judge being elected from each district. The election occurs on the first Monday in June, in each year, in such districts, as the terms of any of the judges may expire. The term of office is nine years.

Appeals and writs of error may be taken to the Supreme Court held in the grand division in which the case is decided, or, by consent of parties, to any other grand division. The officers of the Supreme Court, as fixed by the constitution, are: one reporter of its decisions, who is appointed by the court, holds office six years, and is subject to removal by the court; one clerk in each of the three grand divisions, to be elected by the voters in their respective divisions, and hold office six years.

APPELLATE COURTS.

The constitution also provided for the creation of Appellate Courts, after the year 1874, of uniform organization and jurisdiction, in districts created for that purpose, to which such appeals and writs of error, as the General Assembly may provide, may be prosecuted from circuit and other courts, and from which appeals and writs of error may lie to the Supreme Court, in all criminal cases, and cases in which a franchise, or freehold, or the validity of a statute is involved, and in such other cases as may be provided by law. Such Appellate Courts to be held by such number of judges of the circuit courts, and in such times and places, and in such manner, as might be provided by law; but no judge shall sit in review upon cases decided by him, nor shall said judges receive any additional compensation for such services.

Under the above provisions of the constitution, the legislature, in 1877, created four Appellate Courts, and provided districts as follows: the first to consist of the county of Cook; the second to include all of the Northern grand division of the Supreme Court except the county of Cook; the third to consist of the Central grand division of the Supreme Court, and the fourth the Southern grand division of the Supreme Court. Each court to be held by three of the judges of the circuit court, to be assigned by the Supreme Court, three to each district, for the term of three years, at each assignment.

Two terms of the Appellate Court are held in each district, in every year. One presiding justice is chosen in each district by the judges thereof, for such time and in such manner as they may determine. Two judges constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of two is necessary to a decision. Clerks of the Appellate Court are elected, one for each district, and hold office six years.

The Appellate Courts have appellate jurisdiction only, and have jurisdiction of all matters of appeal or writs of error from the final judgments, orders or decrees of any of the circuit courts, or the Superior Court of Cook county, or from the city courts, in any suit or proceeding at law, or in chancery, other than criminal cases, and cases involving a franchise or freehold, or the validity of a statute. Appeals and writs of error lie from the final orders, judgments or decrees of the circuit or city courts, and from the Superior Court of Cook county, directly to the Supreme Court, in all criminal cases, and in cases involving a franchise or freehold, or the validity of a statute. In all cases determined in the Appellate Courts, in actions, ex contractu (except those involving a penalty), wherein the amount involved is less than $1,000, exclusive of costs, and in all cases sounding in damages, wherein the judgment of the court below is less than $1,000 exclusive of costs, and the judgment is affirmed or otherwise finally disposed of in the Appellate Court, the judgment, order or decree of the Appellate Court shall be final, and no appeal shall lie or writ of error be prosecuted therefrom. In all other cases, appeals shall lie and writs of error may be prosecuted from the final judgments, orders or decrees of the Appellate Courts to the Supreme Court. A majority of the judges of the Appellate Court may, however, if they be of the opinion that any case decided by them, involving a less sum than $1,000, also involves questions of law of such importance, either on account of principal or collateral interests, as that it should be passed upon by the Supreme Court, in such cases, grant appeals and writs of error to the Supreme Court, on petition of parties to the cause, in which case they shall certify to the Supreme Court the grounds upon which the appeal is granted.

The law establishing the Appellate Courts went into effect July 1, 1877, the election of circuit judges took place in August, and the first assignment of Appellate judges was made by the Supreme Court at the September term, in the same year. These are substantially the constitutional and statutory provisions as to the organization and jurisdiction of the Appellate Courts.

CIRCUIT COURTS.

The constitution provides that the circuit courts shall have original jurisdiction of all causes in law and equity, and such appellate jurisdiction as is or may be provided by law, and shall hold two or more terms each year in every county. The judges are elected by districts, and hold office six years.

Section 13 of the judiciary article of the constitution provides that the State, exclusive of Cook and other counties having a population of 100,000, shall be divided into judicial circuits, to be formed of contiguous counties, and not over one circuit for each 100,000 population; one judge to be elected for each circuit. The first election for circuit judges was required to be held on the first Monday in June, 1873, and every six years thereafter.

The legislature, in 1873, in accordance with above section, divided the State, exclusive of Cook county, into twenty-six judicial circuits, and at the election in June, 1873, one judge was elected for each circuit, for the term of six years.

Section 15 provides that the General Assembly may divide the State into judicial circuits of greater population and territory, in lieu of the circuits provided for in section 13, and provide for the election therein, severally, by the electors thereof, by general ticket, of not exceeding four judges, who shall hold the circuit courts in the circuit for which they shall be elected, in such manner as may be provided by law.

The legislature, in 1877, in order to increase the number of circuit judges, and to provide for the organization of the appellate courts, divided the State into thirteen districts, and provided for the election of one additional judge in each district, in August, 1877, for two years, making three judges in each district and thirty-nine in the State. The election took place in August accordingly, and in September following the Supreme Court assigned twelve of the circuit judges to appellate duty, and the remaining judges held the circuit courts in their respective districts.

In June, 1879, three judges were elected in each of the thirteen judicial circuits, as created by the act of 1877. A second assignment was made by the Supreme Court, of circuit judges for appellate duty, at the June term, 1879, and the remaining judges perform circuit duty in the districts for which they were respectively elected.

COURTS OF COOK COUNTY.

The constitution of 1870 recognizes Cook county as a unit in the judiciary system of the State, by providing that the Supreme Court may hold one or more sessions each year in the city of Chicago, whenever suitable rooms are provided, without expense to the State; and also constitutes the county of Cook one judicial circuit, and excepts the county in the districting of the State by the legislature into circuits.

The circuit court of Cook county is made to consist of five judges, until their number shall be increased as provided by the constitution. The constitution provides that the General Assembly may increase the number of judges by adding one for every additional 50,000 inhabitants in the county over and above a population of 400,000. The term of office of the judges of the Cook county circuit court is also six years.

The Superior Court of Chicago, established by law, 1849, formerly the Cook County Court of Common Pleas, was continued by the constitution, and called the Superior Court of Cook County. The constitution provides for an increase of judges of the Superior Court the same as the circuit court of Cook county.

By an act of 1875, it is provided that for every 50,000 inhabitants over and above 400,000 in Cook county, there shall be added one judge, until the court shall be composed of nine judges. It is also made the duty of the Governor, whenever he shall ascertain from the census that the county of Cook is entitled to one or more additional judges, to issue a writ of election therefor, for the number to which the county is entitled.

Accordingly, it appearing by the United States census of 1880 that the population of the county of Cook exceeded 400,000, an election was ordered to be held for four additional judges of the Superior Court of Cook county, at the November election, 1880, and the court was increased by that number in accordance with the statute of 1875.

The above comprises a concise history of the State courts; and a comprehensive though brief outline of the judicial system of the State from its organization to the present time.

By the act approved June 2, 1877, in force July 1, for the organization of the Appellate Courts of the State, it was provided that the Supreme Court clerks should also act as Appellate Court clerks until the expiration of the terms for which they were elected—1878—when clerks for both Supreme and Appellate courts were elected for six years, and every six years thereafter. First district, Cook county; second, all of the Northern Division of Supreme Court except Cook county; third, Central Grand Division of the Supreme Court; fourth, Southern Grand Division of the Supreme Court.

REPORTERS OF THE SUPREME COURT.

The Reporter of the decisions of the Supreme Court is appointed by the court.

Sidney Breese was first authorized by the court to report and publish its decisions, and published the first volume of the Supreme Court Reports, which includes all the decisions of the court from its first organization, in 1819, to the close of the December term, 1831, and was the only volume published by him.

John Young Seammon, Esq., of Chicago, was appointed by the court, July, 1839, to succeed Judge Breese, and published four volumes, which are known as "Seammon's" Reports.

Charles Gilman, Esq., of Quincy, Illinois, succeeded Mr. Seammon, who had resigned, and was appointed Jan. 30, 1845. Mr. Gilman died July 24, 1849, when the fifth volume of his report was about four-fifths completed. Charles B. Lawrence, at the request of the administrators of the estate of Mr. Gilman, and the approbation of the court, completed the volume and superintended its publication. Mr. Gilman published five volumes, which are known as "Gilman's" Reports.

Ebenezer Peck, Esq., of Chicago, succeeded Mr. Gilman in 1849. Mr. Peck adopted the title of "Illinois Reports," which has continued since, and published his first number as "Illinois Reports—Volume XI." The last volume published by Mr. Peck was Volume XXX. Mr. Peck resigned in April, 1863.

Norman L. Freeman, Esq., was appointed in April, 1863, to succeed Mr. Peck, and was appointed from time to time by the court as his own successor, until his death, which occurred in Springfield, Aug. 23, 1894. Mr. Freeman issued Volume XXXI. of the Illinois Reports, and the last volume was the 151st.

On Oct. 24, 1894, the court appointed Isaac N. Phillips, of Bloomington, as Reporter, and he is the present incumbent.

STATE BOARDS OF EQUALIZATION.

The State Board of Equalization was organized by act of the General Assembly, approved March 8, 1867. As at first composed, the board consisted of twenty-five members, one elected from each Senatorial district. In 1872 the law was so amended as to reduce the number of members to nineteen, one being elected from each Congressional district. The first board, under the act of 1867, was appointed by the Governor and held office two years. Since the first board, the term has been four years. The Auditor of Public Accounts is, ex-officio, a member of the board.

The duties of the board are to equalize the assessment between counties, by adding or deducting the per cent. necessary to do so. The board is prohibited by law from reducing the aggregate assessment, but may increase it not to exceed one per cent. The board makes the assessment upon capital stock of incorporated companies and railroad property. The sessions of the board are held annually, in August.

Shadrach Bond

SHADRACH BOND, of St. Clair, Democrat, first Governor of Illinois, from Oct. 6, 1818, to Dec. 5, 1822, was born at Fredericktown, Md., Nov. 24, 1778, and was raised a farmer, on his father's plantation, and agriculture was his pursuit in Illinois, whither he emigrated in 1794. He had received a plain English education. He was 6 feet high, and weighed 200 pounds. His features were strongly masculine, dark complexion, hair jet, and hazel eyes. He was a favorite with the ladies. His disposition was jovial, thoroughly honest and unostentatious, and he was the most popular man of the day. He was a member of the Legislature when Illinois was a part of Indiana territory, and was a Delegate in Congress in 1812, and in the latter capacity procured the right of pre-emption on the public domain. In 1814 he was appointed receiver of public moneys at Kaskaskia. After his gubernatorial term expired, in 1824, he ran for Congress against Daniel P. Cook, but was beaten. Afterwards he was appointed register of the land office at Kaskaskia, where he died April 12, 1832. The county of Bond was named after him. He was elected without opposition and party politics were unknown. The election was held on the third Thursday and two following days in September, 1818. Governor Bond was in favor of making Illinois a slave State, and is classed as a Democrat. His remains were removed from Kaskaskia and re-interred at Chester, several years ago, with a handsome monument above it, the Illinois Legislature having made an appropriation by a special act for that purpose.

Edward Coles

EDWARD COLES, second Governor, anti-slavery Democrat, of Madison, from Dec. 5, 1822, to Dec. 6, 1826, was born in Albemarle county, Virginia, Dec. 15, 1786, and was among the youngest of ten children. His father was a planter and owned many slaves. During college Gov. Coles' mind was impressed with the moral wrongfulness and political impolicy of slaveholding, and he resolved when he came into possession of his share of his father's slaves he would set them free. When his father died in 1808 he became entitled to twenty-five slaves and 1,000 acres of land. Mr. Coles became the private secretary of President Madison. In person he was tall and graceful. He was gifted with a wide fund of information, social tact and conversational powers. He is said to have brought about a reconciliation between Madison and Monroe and also Adams and Jefferson, who had become estranged. In 1816 he was sent on a special mission to Russia. He spent the summer of 1818 in Illinois and witnessed the efforts to form a constitution. In the spring of 1819 he moved with his slaves to Illinois. One moonlight night, while floating down the Ohio to Illinois in flatboats, Gov. Coles called all his slaves around him and in a speech set them free. They tendered him a year's service free, but he declined the offer. He gave the head of each family 160 acres of land near Edwardsville, some money, and exercised a paternal care over them. When elected Governor he was register of the land office at Edwardsville. In 1833 he moved to Philadelphia, married Miss Sallie Logan Roberts, by whom he had one daughter and two sons. He died July 7, 1858. For Governor, Coles received 2,810 votes, and Gen. Moore, 522 (both anti-slavery); Joseph Phillips, 2,760, and Thomas C. Brown, 2,543, (both pro slavery). In 1825 Gov. Coles was temporarily absent in Virginia, and Lieut. Gov. Hubbard declined to yield the office when he returned. The Supreme Court decided against Hubbard, however.

Ninian Edwards

NINIAN EDWARDS, third Governor, Democrat. of Madison, from Dec. 6, 1826, to Dec. 9, 1830, was born in Montgomery county, Maryland, in March, 1775, and was Territorial Governor of Illinois. He was a life-long friend of William Wirt. He had a collegiate course at Carlyle, Pa., and studied law, but was sent into Kentucky to select lands for his brothers and sisters and open a farm. He located in Nelson county, and was early chosen a member of the Kentucky legislature. Before he was 32 years old he had filled the offices of presiding judge of the general court, circuit judge, fourth judge of the appeals and chief justice of the State, which last he held when his associate, Justice Boyle, was appointed Territorial Governor of Illinois. A change was made—Edwards, through the friendship of Henry Clay, being appointed Governor of Illinois, and Boyle chief justice in Kentucky. Gov. Edwards was a fine-looking man, large and with a distinguished air and courtly manners. He was fluent of speech and wielded a ready pen. He was elected Governor at the regular election in August, 1826. "Edwards," says Gov. Ford, "was a large, well-made man, with a noble, princely appearance, who never condescended to the common low arts of electioneering. Whenever he went out among the people he arrayed himself in the style of a gentleman of the olden time, dressed in fine broadcloth, with short breeches, long stockings and high, fair topped boots; was drawn in a fine carriage driven by a negro; and for success he relied on his speeches, which were delivered in great pomp and in a style of diffuse and florid eloquence. When he was inaugurated he appeared before the general assembly wearing a gold-laced cloak, and with great pomp he pronounced his first message to the legislature." He died July 20, 1833. He received 6,299 votes to 5,818 for Thos. Slou, Jr.

John Reynolds

JOHN REYNOLDS, fourth Governor, Democrat, of St. Clair, Dec. 9, 1830, to Nov. 17, 1834, was born in Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, Feb. 26, 1789, of Irish parents, who removed to Tennessee while he was an infant, and to Illinois in 1800. He afterwards returned to Tennessee, where he received "a classical education," as he asserts in his "Life and Times," but for this information no one would have ever suspected it, either from his conversation, public addresses or writings. He disliked polish, condemned fashion, and was profane. These were garnished by his varied learning, native shrewdness and wonderful faculty of garrulity. He was tall; his face long and bony and deeply furrowed, and under his high, narrow forehead rolled his eyes, large and liquid, expressive of volubility. His nose projected well downward to his ample mouth. His thoroughly democratic manners, social disposition and talkative habit caused him to mingle readily with the people and enjoy their confidence. He was a judge, served three terms in congress, was afterward commissioned one of the State financial agents to negotiate large sums to carry on internal improvements. He was always a staunch Democrat. In 1855, however, he refused to follow Douglas, siding with Buchanan in his effort to fasten slavery on Kansas, and his hatred for Douglas was such that he preferred Lincoln for the senate to Douglas. In 1860, old and infirm, he attended the Charleston convention an anti-Douglas delegate, supporting Breckenridge. After the October elections, foreshadowing the election of Lincoln, he published an address urging Democrats to rally to the support of Douglas, hoping that the election would be thrown into the house, which would have elected Breckenridge. During the war he was clearly in sympathy with the South. He died in Belleville May 8, 1865. He served in the legislature in 1846-48 and 1852-54; he was speaker the last term. In 1858 he was the Buchanan-Democrat candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction. He wrote several books. He was elected to congress in 1834, and on Nov. 17 resigned the office of Governor. He received 12,855 votes to 8,948 for William Kinney, Whig.

Wm Lee D Ewing

WM. LEE D. EWING, Democrat, of Fayette, served but seventeen days—Nov. 17, 1834, to Dec. 3, 1834—having been elected a State Senator and president pro tem. of the senate. Lieut. Gov. Casey resigning, Mr. Ewing became Lieutenant Governor, and Gov. Reynolds resigning to become a member of congress, Mr. Ewing filled the interim until Gov. Duncan qualified. Mr. Ewing was a native of Kentucky, born Aug. 31, 1798. He was a man of fine education and polished manners. He was appointed receiver of public moneys at Vandalia soon after the organization of the State, and was a colonel in the Black Hawk war. He was clerk of the house in the Fifth and Sixth general assemblies. In the Seventh general assembly he was speaker of the house. In the Eighth he was president pro tem. of the Senate. He was a member of the Tenth general assembly, member and speaker of the house in the Eleventh and Twelfth, and again clerk of the Thirteenth (1842). Dec. 29, 1835, he was elected United States Senator to succeed Senator Elias Kent Kane, deceased. In 1842 he was elected State Auditor on the ticket with Gov. Ford, but did not qualify until after his term as clerk of the house expired. He died March 26, 1846, while in office. He was a lawyer by profession, and one of the most popular men in the State in his time. Mr. Ewing was clerk, speaker, president pro tem., United States Senator, Governor, clerk of the house again, and finally auditor of public accounts. His remains are interred in Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield.

Joseph Duncan

JOSEPH DUNCAN, fifth Governor elected, Democrat, of Morgan, Dec. 3, 1834, to Dec. 7, 1838, was born at Paris, Ky., Feb. 23, 1790. He served gallantly in the war of 1812. In Illinois he was major general of militia. Subsequently he became a State senator, and introduced the first bill providing for a free school system. In 1826 he gained great eclat by defeating Daniel P. Cook for congress. He retained his seat in congress until elected Governor, when he resigned. For Governor he received 17 330 votes to 10,224 for William Kinney, Whig, and 4,320 for Robert McLaughlin and 887 for James Adams. He served the first year in the Black-hawk war as brigadier-general of volunteers. Gov. Duncan was a man of limited education, but natural abilities. He was well adapted to gain the admiration of the people, and in his intercourse with them he was affable, courteous and dignified. He did not personally participate in the campaign, but remained in Washington. Illinois then was divided politically by Whigs and "Jackson Democrats," and Duncan was the candidate of the latter, who worshipped Old Hickory. However, unknown to the people of the State, Congressman Duncan had become estranged from Jackson, and now as cordially hated the President as before he had loved him. The Whigs and leading Jackson Democrats tried to make the people believe this, but they would not. Jackson had vetoed bills for the improvement of the harbor of Chicago and the great Wabash river, and had crushed the United States bank, measures which Duncan had set his heart on. The means of communication in those days were limited, and the people did not know Duncan's sentiments until he presented his inaugural. He died Jan. 15, 1844. After his election he was classed as a Whig, and eight years after his election was nominated by the Whigs for Governor, but was defeated.

Thos. Carlin

THOMAS CARLIN, sixth Governor elected, Democrat, of Greene, Dec. 7, 1838, to Dec. 8, 1842, was born near Frankfort, Ky., July 18, 1789. His father was an Irishman. Gov. Carlin's education was meagre, and in early manhood he supplied the deficiency by becoming his own tutor. In 1803 his father removed to Missouri, then Spanish, where he died in 1810. In 1812 Gov. Carlin moved to Illinois, and proved himself a soldier of undaunted bravery in battles with the Indians. He was married to Rebecca Hultt in 1814, and lived on the banks of the Mississippi, opposite the mouth of the Missouri, for four years, when he moved to Greene county. He located near Carrollton and made a liberal donation of land for county buildings in 1825. He was the first sheriff of the county, and afterwards was twice elected to the State Senate. In the Blackhawk war he commanded a spy battalion, a position of great danger and hardship. In 1834 he was appointed receiver of public moneys by President Jackson and removed to Quincy. After his term as Governor he returned to Greene county and was elected to the legislature in 1849 vice J. D. Fry, resigned. He spent the remainder of his life in agricultural pursuits. He died Feb. 14, 1852, leaving a wife and seven children, out of thirteen born to them. He was elected as a straight Democrat against a straight Whig, the vote standing: Carlin, 30,573; Cyrus Edwards (brother of Ninian Edwards), 29,629. Gov. Carlin has the reputation of being one of the best Governors Illinois ever had.

Thomas Ford

THOMAS FORD, seventh Governor elected, Democrat, of Ogle, the first Governor from Central or Northern Illinois, Dec. 8, 1842, to Dec. 9, 1846, was born at Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 5, 1800. His father was killed by Indians in the mountains of Pennsylvania. His mother was left in poor circumstances with a large family, mostly girls, and she concluded to move to Missouri in 1804. There was some sickness in the family, and the mother decided to move from Missouri to Illinois, which she did, settling three miles south of Waterloo. Gov. Ford received a limited common school education. In 1829 Gov. Edwards appointed him prosecuting attorney; two years later Gov. Reynolds reappointed him, and after that the legislature four times elected him judge—twice as circuit judge, as judge of Chicago and as associate judge of the supreme court, when in 1841 that tribunal was reorganized and five Democrats elected. He resigned to become Governor. The Democrats, in Dec., 1841, met and nominated Adam W. Snyder, of St. Clair county, for Governor for the election of Aug. 1842, but he died in the spring of 1842, and Gov. Ford was named to succeed him. Ex-Gov. Duncan ran as the Whig candidate, but was badly beaten, receiving 38,584 votes to Ford's 46,901. He died Nov. 3, 1850, at Peoria, in very indigent circumstances. He wrote an excellent history of Illinois from 1818 to 1847. Gov. Ford is regarded as one of the great men of his time in Illinois. He retained the respect of everybody to the time of his death.

Aug. C. French

AUGUSTUS C. FRENCH, eighth and ninth Governor elected, Democrat, of Crawford, Dec. 9, 1846, to Jan. 10, 1853, was born in the town of Hill, N. H., Aug. 2, 1808. He received a common school education and spent a short time at Dartmouth. He was admitted to the bar in 1831 and shortly afterwards settled in Albion. After a year he moved to Paris. Here he entered public life by going to the legislature. A strong attachment sprang up between him and Stephen A. Douglas. In 1839 Gov. French was appointed receiver of the United States land office at Palestine, Crawford county, then an important point, where he resided when named for Governor. Lyman Trumbull, John Calhoun and Walter B. Scates were among the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor that year, but after the fourth ballot all withdrew in favor of French. He received 58,700 votes to 36,775 for Thos. M. Kilpatrick, Whig. In 1844 Gov. French was a Polk elector. After the expiration of his term as Governor he occupied for some years the professor's chair in the law department at McKendree college, Lebanon, and did not appear in public life again except as a member of the constitutional convention of 1862. In 1858 the Democrats nominated Gov. French for State superintendent of public instruction, but he was defeated by Newton Bateman, Republican, who received 124,556 votes to 122,413 for French and 5,173 for Ex-Gov John Reynolds, who ran as a Buchanan Democrat. Gov. French died at Lebanon Sept. 4, 1864. The constitution of 1848 was adopted in March, 1848, and provided a term of four years for all State officers, and ordered an election for Nov. 1848. At this election there was no organized opposition to Gov. French, and he received 67,453 votes to 5,639 for Pierre Menard, Jr., 4,748 for Chas. V. Dyer, 3,834 for W. L. D. Morrison and 1,361 for J. L. D. Morrison. Gov. French thus served six years.

Joel A. Matteson

JOEL A. MATTESON, tenth Governor elected, Democrat, of Will, Jan. 10, 1853, to Jan. 12, 1857, was born Aug. 8, 1808, in Jefferson county, New York. He received a common school education, taught school, improved a farm his father left him, built railroads in the South, and in 1833 he removed with his family to Illinois, taking a claim near the head of Au Sable river, in the present Kendall county. In 1835 he bought largely at government land sales, and next year during the speculative mania that pervaded Chicago and the State he sold his lands at inflated prices and moved to Joliet. In 1838 he took heavy contracts with the Illinois and Michigan canal. When he completed his job in 1841, when hard times prevailed, business at a stand, contracts paid in State scrip, he bought from the State 700 tons of railroad iron. He sold this in Detroit, paid his debts and had several thousands left. He started a woolen mill in Joliet, which assumed enormous proportions. In 1842 he was elected State senator, but by a bungling apportionment John Pearson held over from the same district. Mr. Pearson immediately resigned for the two years he had to serve, a bill was passed in a few hours, and in ten days Matteson took his seat. He was made chairman of the finance committee, which he held for ten years. Besides his woolen mill, when work was resumed on the canal under the new loan of $1,600,000, he again became a heavy contractor, and subsequently extensively engaged in railroad building. In his message he strongly urged the passage of a free school bill, and in 1855 it was passed. He died in Chicago Jan. 31, 1873. His Whig opponent for Governor was E. B. Webb, of White. Matteson received 80,789 votes, and Webb 64,408. Two years after Matteson had left the office it was discovered that $224,182.66 of 90-day canal scrip that had once been redeemed by the State, but not canceled, had been stolen from the State treasury and was in possession of ex-Gov. Matteson. He maintained that he came honestly by it, and courted the fullest investigation, meantime turning over all his property to the State until the truth was discovered. The thief was never found, and the State realized $255,500 from the sale of Matteson's property.

Wm. H. Bissell

WILLIAM H. BISSELL, of St. Clair, eleventh Governor elected, the first Republican Governor, from Jan. 12, 1857, to March 15, 1860, was born April 25, 1811, near Painted Post, Yates county, N. Y. He received an academic education. Early in life he moved to Monroe county and took up the law. In 1840 he was elected to the Illinois house as a Democrat. When he returned he qualified for the law. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss James, of Monroe county, by whom he had two daughters, probably yet living in Belleville, where he lived when elected Governor; his wife died about 1840. His second wife was a daughter of Elias K. Kane, United States Senator from Illinois; she survived him but a short time and died without issue. In 1846 he enlisted in the Mexican war and was chosen colonel over Don Morrison by an almost unanimous vote—807 to 6. After the war he was elected to congress twice as a Democrat over P. B. Fouke and Joseph Gillespie. His lower extremities became paralyzed before his term of office expired, caused by exposure in the war, and he died March 15, 1860, in Springfield, nine months before his term expired. He died in the faith of the Roman Catholic church, of which he had been a believer since 1854. While in congress he accepted a challenge from Jefferson Davis to fight a duel, and when he took the oath of office was obliged to swear he had never fought a duel or accepted a challenge. It was made the text for John A. Logan, then a Democratic member of the Illinois house, who delivered a speech of two days' length, extremely bitter and vituperative. Evidence from a number of Democrats, including Wm. R. Morrison, was given to show that Bissell had accepted the Davis challenge. Bissell, who was an anti-Nebraska Democrat when nominated, received 111,466 votes; William A. Richardson (Democrat), 106,769; Buckner S. Morris (Know-nothing), 19,088.

John Wood

JOHN WOOD, Republican, of Adams, who succeeded on Bissell's death, March 21, 1860, to Jan. 14, 1861, was born in Moravia, N. Y., Dec. 20, 1798. His father was a surgeon in the Revolutionary war. He moved to Shawneetown in the summer of 1819, and in March, 1820, settled in Pike county, thirty miles southeast of Quincy. In 1821 he visited the present site of Quincy, bought a quarter section of land and in the fall of 1822 erected a cabin on it. It was the first building in Quincy. In 1824 he gave newspaper notice that he would apply to the legislature to form a new county. It was done in the winter of 1825, and in the summer Quincy was selected as the county seat, when there were four male adult and two female inhabitants. He made that his home thereafter. He was mayor and alderman many times, and in 1850 was elected to the State senate. In 1856 he was nominated for Lieutenant Governor by the Republicans, and on Gov. Bissell's death in 1860 became Governor. He was one of the five delegates sent by Illinois to the famous Peace Conference in 1861, and was quartermaster general in Illinois during the war. He was married two times, and died in Quincy June 4, 1880. Gov. Wood was a Whig and afterwards a Republican. It was his influence that named Adams county and the town of Quincy, after his famous hero, John Quincy Adams. He has many descendants left in Quincy and Adams county.

RICHARD YATES, Republican, of Morgan, twelfth Governor elected, Jan. 14, 1861, to Jan. 16, 1865, was born Jan. 18, 1818, at Warsaw, Gallatin county, Ky. In 1831 his father moved to Illinois, stopping for a short time at Springfield, and then settling at Island Grove, Sangamon county. He graduated from Illinois college, Jacksonville, in 1837 with first honors. He chose the law as a profession and soon rose to the first rank. He was a passionate admirer of Henry Clay, and, of course, a Whig. He was elected to the legislature in 1842 from Morgan county. He served several terms, and in 1850 was unanimously chosen as the Whig candidate for congress in a district that extended from Sangamon on the south to LaSalle on the north, and was elected. He was re-elected, and took pronounced grounds against slavery in any form. In 1854 Gov. Yates was defeated for re-election. He was elected Governor in 1860, receiving 172,196 votes to 159,253 for James C. Allen, Democrat, and discharged his duties during the war in a manner to make him the idol of the people. In 1865 he was elected United States Senator to succeed Wm. A. Richardson, Democrat, and was in turn succeeded by Gen. Logan in 1871. He died in St. Louis, Nov. 27, 1873, on his way home from a trip over the Southwestern railroad lines, of which he was a government commissioner.

R J Oglesby

RICHARD J. OGLESBY, Republican, of Macon, thirteenth, fifteenth and eighteenth Governor elected, from Jan. 16, 1865, to Jan. 11, 1869; Jan. 13, 1873, to Jan. 23, 1873, and Jan. 30, 1885, to Jan. 14, 1889, was born July 25, 1824, in Oldham county, Kentucky. When 12 years of age he moved with an uncle to Decatur; was apprenticed to a carpenter, farmed and studied law, essaying to practice at Sullivan. He was first lieutenant, Co. C, Fourth Illinois infantry, in the Mexican war. On returning he took a course of law lectures at Louisville, but caught the gold fever and crossed the plains to California. Returning in 1852, he made his first bow in politics as a Scott elector. Later he visited Europe and the Holy Land, and in 1858 was a candidate for congress against James C. Robinson, but was defeated. Was elected State senator in 1860, but resigned, organized a regiment and was made colonel of the Eighth Illinois infantry in the rebellion. He lost 500 men in his corps at Fort Donelson. He has a magnificent war record, and in 1863 was given charge of the Sixteenth army corps, but on account of wounds resigned and returned home. He received 190,376 votes to 158,701 for James C. Robinson, Democrat. Gov. Oglesby was elected United States Senator in 1873 to succeed Lyman Trumbull, resigning the office of Governor, to which he had again been chosen in 1872, when he received 237,774 votes to 197,084 for Gustavus Kerner, Democrat. Again in 1884 he was elected Governor over Carter H. Harrison, Democrat, receiving 334,234 votes to Harrison's 319,635. He is living on a magnificent farm at Elkhart, Ill.—"Oglehurst."

John M. Palmer

JOHN M. PALMER, Republican, of Macoupin, fourteenth Governor elected, Jan. 11, 1869, to Jan. 13, 1873, was born in Scott county, Kentucky, Sept. 13, 1817; removed with his father to Madison county, Illinois, in 1831; educated in common schools and spent one year at Shurtleff college, Alton; in 1838 taught school and studied law; admitted to the bar in Dec., 1839; in 1843 was elected probate judge of Macoupin county; was a member of the constitutional convention in 1847; was county judge from 1848 to 1852, when he was elected to the State senate to fill a vacancy; was re-elected in 1854 as an anti-Nebraska Democrat, and nominated and voted for Lyman Trumbull for United States Senator. In 1856 he resigned his seat, having decided to act with the Republicans. He was chairman of the first Republican State convention; delegate to the Philadelphia convention that nominated Fremont; was defeated for congress in 1859; in 1860 was an elector-at-large for Lincoln; member of the Peace Conference of 1861; colonel of the Fourteenth Illinois infantry, and in Nov., 1861, was promoted to brigadier general; has a gallant war record; was promoted to major general in 1863, and in October of that year was given command of the Fourteenth army corps; was relieved at his own request in Aug., 1864; commanded military department of Kentucky from Feb., 1865, to May, 1866. He removed to Springfield in 1867 and was elected Governor in 1868, receiving 249,912 votes to 199,813 for John R. Eden, Democrat. He became a Democrat again in 1872-74, disagreeing with the Republicans on tariff and State rights. He was nominated by the Democrats in 1888, but was defeated by Fifer. He was nominated in State convention by the Democrats for United States Senator in 1890 and elected by the legislature in April, 1891, two farmer Independents voting with the Democrats to elect him. He lives in Springfield. Oglesby succeeded him in 1873 as Governor, but immediately resigned, having been elected United States Senator, after his inauguration as Governor.

John L. Beveridge

JOHN L. BEVERIDGE, Republican, of Cook, Jan. 23, 1873, to Jan. 8, 1877, who succeeded to office when Gov. Oglesby resigned, was born in Greenwich, Washington county, N. Y., July 6, 1824. He was reared upon a farm and received a common school education. He moved to DeKalb county, Illinois, in 1842, and attended Granville academy and Rock River seminary, located at Mt. Morris. In 1845 he began teaching school in Tennessee; then he read law and was admitted to practice. In 1849, through the mismanagement of his partner, he lost all he had accumulated. In 1851 he had paid his creditors, and then he moved back to DeKalb county. He entered a law office in Sycamore. In 1854 he moved to Evanston, and in the spring of 1855 he opened a law office in Chicago. In 1861 he enlisted (Aug. 27) in the Eighth Illinois cavalry, and was chosen captain of Co. F, which he had raised. Next day he was elected major. In October his regiment joined the Army of the Potomac in Washington. In Nov., 1863, he resigned to organize the Seventeenth cavalry, of which he was elected colonel in Jan., 1864, which he commanded until Oct., 1865; he was mustered out Feb. 6, 1866; in March, 1865, he was brevetted a brigadier general. After the war he resumed the practice of his profession, and in the summer of 1866 was elected sheriff of Cook county. In Nov., 1870, he was elected State senator, resigning in 1871; was elected congressman-at-large in Dec., 1871, vice Logan, resigned to run for United States Senator. In Nov., 1872, was elected lieutenant governor, and in Jan., 1873, resigned as congressman-at-large. When Governor Oglesby was elected United States Senator in 1873 Beveridge became Governor for nearly the full term. He is still living in Chicago and actively practicing his profession.

Shelby M. Cullom

SHELBY M. CULLOM, Republican, of Sangamon, sixteenth and seventeenth Governor elected, Jan. 8, 1877, to Jan. 10, 1881, Jan. 10, 1881, to Feb. 6, 1883, was born in Wayne Co., Ky, Nov. 22, 1829. His father moved with him to Tazewell Co., Ill., in 1830; he received an academic and university education; went to Springfield in 1853 to study law, and has since lived there; was immediately elected city attorney; was an elector in 1856 on the Fillmore ticket; was elected to the Illinois House in 1856, 1860, 1872 and 1874, and was chosen speaker in 1861 and 1873; was elected to the 39th, 40th and 41st Congresses; delegate to the Philadelphia convention in 1872 and placed Grant in nomination; chairman of the Illinois delegation to the Republican national convention of 1884; was elected governor in 1876, receiving 215,414 votes to 208,580 for Lewis Steward, Democrat and Greenback; was re-elected in 1880, receiving 245,905 votes to 214,515 for Lyman Trumbull, Democrat; Feb. 6, 1883, he resigned, having been elected to the United States Senate to succeed David Davis. In 1889, and again in 1895 he was re-elected. He lives in Springfield. He has never been defeated for any office for which he has been a candidate, and is the only Governor of Illinois elected to succeed himself, excepting Gov. French. Gov. Cullom is married and has one daughter.

John M. Hamilton

JOHN M. HAMILTON, Republican, of McLean, Feb. 6, 1883, to Jan. 30, 1885, who succeeded to the office of Governor, was born in Union county, Ohio, May 28, 1847. In 1854 he came with his parents to Illinois, where he worked upon his father's farm until 16 years of age, when he enlisted in the army. In 1865 he entered Wesleyan university at Delaware, O., graduating in 1868. In 1869 he located in Bloomington, Ill., read law and was admitted to the bar in 1870. He then formed a partnership with J. H. Rowell, which lasted until Gov. Hamilton was inaugurated Governor. He was elected State senator in 1876; was president pro tem. of the senate in the Thirty-first general assembly, and was elected Lieutenant Governor in 1880 with Gov. Cullom. He was, while a member of the senate, the author of the bill creating appellate courts. After retirement from the executive office Gov. Hamilton moved to Chicago, where he is practicing his profession.

He was succeeded on Jan. 30, 1885, by Richard J. Oglesby, eighteenth Governor elected, Republican, of Logan, Jan. 30, 1885, to Jan. 14, 1889. For portrait, biography and vote, see a preceding page. Gov. Oglesby's inauguration was delayed by the failure of the house to permanently organize, the session of 1885 being the one in which Elijah M. Haines, having been elected temporary speaker, declined to permit the election of a speaker, holding that he had been elected to that position; that the constitution did not contemplate a temporary speaker. He finally abdicated the chair, but, being an independent and holding the balance of power, he then compelled the Democrats to elect him speaker.

Joseph W. Fifer

JOSEPH W. FIFER, nineteenth governor elected, Republican, of McLean, Jan. 14, 1889, to Jan. 10, 1893, was born in Staunton, Va., Oct. 28, 1842. In 1857 his father moved to McLean Co., Ill. He practically educated himself. His father was a brick mason, and the son was taught that trade. When the war broke out Joseph W. Fifer and his brother, George, enlisted in the 33d Illinois Infantry. He participated in the battles of the Vicksburg campaign, and at Jackson, Miss., on July 13, 1863, in an assault on breastworks he was desperately wounded by a rifle ball, which passed through his right lung and also through the upper portion of his liver. After a time in the hospital he was discharged and returned to his regiment, serving out his time. Returning home in 1864 he entered the Illinois Wesleyan University at Bloomington, from which he graduated in 1868. Then he studied law and was admitted in 1869, beginning practice immediately in Bloomington. He was corporation counsel of Bloomington, states attorney two terms, was elected to the State Senate in 1880, and in 1888 was elected governor by the Republicans after a hot campaign against ex-Gov. Palmer, the Democratic nominee, Fifer receiving 367,860 votes to Palmer's 355,313. After his term as governor he returned to the practice of his profession at Bloomington. He is married and has one son and one daughter.

John P. Altgeld

JOHN P. ALTGELD, twentieth governor elected, Democrat, of Cook, January 10, 1893, to January 11, 1897, was born in Prussia in 1848 and came to this country with his parents when a boy, his father settling on a farm near Mansfield, Ohio. He attended the district school when farm work was not pressing, but at the age of 16 enlisted in the 163d Ohio Infantry, and participated in the closing campaign of the great civil war. After the war he returned home and for the next few years taught school, worked as a farm hand and studied when opportunity offered. He went to St. Louis, working at odd jobs to support himself, and while there, and between the hours of labor, studied law. At Savannah, Mo., he entered a law office and continued his studies. His intense application and faculty for getting at the heart of a subject combined with his natural ability soon brought him to the front. In '74 he was elected prosecuting attorney of Andrew county, but in the fall of '75 he resigned and removed to a wider field—Chicago. He took little interest in politics for several years, but in '84 accepted the Democratic nomination to Congress and largely reduced the overwhelming republican majority. In '86, without solicitation on his part, he was nominated for Superior Court judge of Cook county, and was elected. His power for organization and close attention to every detail became apparent in this canvass, and was a factor in determining the Democratic State convention in '92 to nominate him for Governor. He resigned from the bench in August, '91. The campaign of '92 was remarkable for the work done by Gov. Altgeld. He received 425,558 votes to 402,676 for Joseph W. Fifer, Republican. Gov. Altgeld is the author of several valuable literary works dealing with economic questions, the most important probably, being "Live Questions." His messages to the General Assembly are considered valuable additions to State papers. He was renominated for Governor by acclamation by the Democratic and Populist State conventions in 1895 and received 474,256 votes to 587,637 for John R. Tanner, Republican. In 1878 he married Miss Emma Ford, of Chicago. Gov. Altgeld resides in Chicago.

He was reelected in '66 and '68, but in '70 a factious opposition had been aroused, he was defeated for the nomination, and the district was lost to the republicans. In '72 he was returned to the General Assembly, and unanimously chosen speaker by the republican caucus. In '74 he was again elected to the house.

In '76 he was elected governor, and he began the study of law in Springfield. His health becoming impaired his progress was slow and he was admitted to practice in '55. Soon after this he was elected city attorney. In '56 he entered political life as a member of the legislature, and despite the variance of political creed between himself and his constituents, he was returned in '60, although Sangamon county gave the Douglas electors a small majority. Mr. Cullom was chosen speaker. In '62 he was appointed by President Lincoln, with ex-Gov. Bontwell and Charles A. Dana, a commissioner to examine and pass upon the accounts of the quartermasters and U. S. disbursing officers. In '64 he was elected to congress, transforming a democratic majority of 1,365 into a republican majority of 1,785. He introduced a bill on polygamy, for "an

in the administration he developed the highest qualities of statesmanship. In '80 he was again elected governor, the first and only time a governor has been elected to succeed himself for two full terms. In '83 he was advanced to the U. S. senate and was reelected in '89 and '95. His senatorial career has been brought most prominently before the public through his Inter-State Commerce bill. Senator Cullom has been in the service of his state and country over a third of a century, and there are years of usefulness yet before him. Should the day come when the people shall call upon him to fill the chair occupied by those two other great sons of Illinois—Lincoln and Grant—the record of his past affords the surest guarantee that the destinies of the republic may safely be entrusted to him.

THE JUNIOR U. S. SENATOR.

William Ernest Mason, was born in Franklinville, N. Y., July 7, 1850. In '58 the family moved to Bentonsport, Iowa, where the father died in '65. The senator had received the rudiments of an education, and had studied two years at Birmingham College. He began teaching school and devoted himself alternately to teaching and studying until '68. During the next two years he taught in the public schools of Des Moines.

He then began the study of law and gushed himself on the floor of the house on numerous occasions.

Senator Mason is a man of the people, and from experience knows their needs, their hopes and their ambitions, and enters heartily into any movement calculated to better their condition. He was one of the most popular men in congress, being under all circumstances a most genial and affable gentleman.

In the presidential campaign of '88 he became widely known as an effective political speaker, and during the hotly contested campaign of '90 in Ohio removed to Chicago. In '77 he formed a partnership with Judge M. R. M. Wallace and later with Mr. Ennis. He was known as a safe counselor and especially as an able and eloquent advocate. Mr. Mason has always been a staunch republican, and an enthusiastic worker in the interest of that party. Before he was 30 years old he was a member of the General Assembly of Illinois, and in '82 was sent to the senate. In the legislature he was conspicuous for his ability, devotion to the interests of his constituency, and close attention to business.

In '86 he was elected congressman from the Third district, was reelected in '88, and won honor for himself, and reflected credit upon those who elected him. Possessing oratorical powers of high order, a ready wit and a broad knowledge of public affairs, he distinguished himself as a campaign orator.

In the campaign of '96 he stumped Illinois from one end to the other untiringly for five months, and after the election he went into his own campaign for the United States senate, which terminated successfully Jan. 20, '97. He has already distinguished himself as a parliamentarian in the senate, and is destined to become one of the leaders of that august body.

Senator Mason has recently formed a partnership, under the title of Mason, Holmes & Mason. Judge Holmes is a distinguished lawyer from Sioux City, and the junior member of the firm is Mr. Mason's eldest son, Lewis F., who is a promising young man.

In '73, Mr. Mason was married to Miss Edith Julia White, of Des Moines, Iowa, and they have seven children.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

James A. Rose, secretary of state of Illinois, was born October 13, 1850, and has spent his entire life in Illinois, having been raised in Golconda, the county seat of Pope county. Mr. Rose's opportunity for an education was confined to the public schools and to one term in the Northern Illinois Normal University. He commenced teaching before he was 17 years old, in a country school in his own county. Four years thereafter he was elected

In 1889 he was appointed by Governor Fifer one of the trustees of the Pontiac Reformatory, in which position he served not quite one year, when the governor appointed him one of the commissioners of the Southern Illinois Penitentiary at Chester, in which position he remained until the change in administrations in 1893. In the spring of 1896, Mr. Rose having been solicited by a number of friends throughout the state, became a candidate for the office of secretary of state. He received the nomination from the republican state as principal of the graded schools of his home town, Golconda.

At the age of 22 he was elected county superintendent of schools of Pope county, as a republican, and was re-elected four years thereafter. Before the close of his second term he was admitted to the bar and a year later was petitioned by the citizens of his county to resign the office of county superintendent of schools to become state's attorney of the county, which he did, being elected without opposition. At the end of his first term as state's attorney he was renominated and re-elected. He refused to be a candidate for a third term.

convention in the spring and was elected by a majority of 137,611.

Mr. Rose is a married man, having been wedded on July 14, 1874, to Miss Elizabeth Young, of Golconda. His acquaintance throughout the state is quite extensive. He was one of the leading campaign speakers during the last three campaigns. During the campaign of 1896 perhaps no speaker or candidate traveled more miles or made more speeches than he.

In his new office Mr. Rose has instituted several needed reforms, and bids fair to administer the affairs of his responsible office in a manner to merit the commendation of the people.

After the election he accepted the position he now holds and on February 15, '97, resigned the office of circuit clerk. For many years Mr. Clanahan has been an influential factor in southern Illinois politics and his counsel was usually sought in all party matters.

He did reportorial and editorial work on Streator dailies for ten years, and was advertising manager for two years for Heenan's large department store. He served on the LaSalle county board from '93-'97. He is not married. Mr. Miller has been active in politics since he attained his majority, and there was no more

At present he is editor of the Southern Illinois Herald. He was appointed printer expert by Gov. Tanner March 17, '97. Mr. Barton is one of the best known newspaper men in Illinois, and for years has been one of the most prominent journalists of southern Illinois. He is the first member of the Typographical Union to fill the position. Mr. Barton's appointment was especially gratifying to labor organizations for this reason. majority, running about 5,000 ahead of his ticket. In 1892 he was nominated for state treasurer, but was beaten, together with the balance of the republican ticket, in the big landslide.

He is one of the active working republicans of this county, and has for many years been one of the best organizers within the ranks of the republican party. As an instance of his organization and his general work for the party, we call attention to the vote on the northwest side twelve years ago and now. Twelve years ago that part of the county gave about 3,000 demoon the northwest side, where he has resided ever since. His first years passed as those of any immigrant, trying to make a living by hard work. He was agent for Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Company for a while, was clerk in a bank for a couple of years, and immediately after the fire he worked as a farm hand on a farm near Dixon, in Lee county.

the democratic nominee by a majority of 260 votes, receiving nearly as many votes as both his opponents combined.

As a lawyer he stands among the leaders at the Will county bar. As a public prosecutor he has no superior in the state, and his conduct of municipal affairs won for him the admiration of all good citizens, regardless of party. He is a man of high character and sterling integrity, and although he has been prominently before the people of his county for the past ten years, no breath of suspicion has ever been cast upon his private life or offias the republican candidate for city attorney of Joliet, and although the city was at the time democratic from 500 to 600 he defeated the democratic nominee by a majority of 716. In 1888 he was nominated for state's attorney of Will county, and at the election led the entire state and county ticket by 800 votes. In 1892 he was renominated and again led his ticket by hundreds of votes, and is credited by the leaders of both political parties with having saved the republican county ticket from defeat. His most brilliant political victory was achieved in the spring of 1895, when he ran as the republican candidate for mayor of Joliet. Although opposed by a citizens' ticket, led by a republican, he defeated special acts. Mr. Akin is a man of fine appearance and pleasing address, and has won an enviable reputation throughout the state as a public speaker.

Attorney General Akin has rendered opinions on several very important questions thus early in his incumbency, and the Supreme Court has taken the same view as Mr. Akin on every question submitted to it, in which the attorney general has been interested.

Mr. Akin is married to Louise M. McRoberts, eldest daughter of Judge Josiah McRoberts, and they have one child, Gertrude McR., aged 18.

Mr. Akin received 598,965 votes for his present office to 466,306 for M. C. Crawford, fusionist.

THE ADJUTANT-GENERAL.

Gen. J. N. Reece is a prominent and well known citizen of Springfield. He has ably served the state in various important official capacities and is a conspicuous figure in military circles. He was born in Abingdon, Knox Co., April 30, 1841, and passed his boyhood days in obtaining an education, and was one of the first students to enter Hedding College at Abingdon. He was scarcely 20 when he enlisted as a private in the early part of the war. Later he enlisted in another regiment and in Oct., '64, was mustered out as a captain of his company. He saw much service in the southwest, his command being engaged in cleareral, commanding the Second Brigade. In '81-'82 he was chief clerk in the United States marshal's office, and was private secretary to Gov. Hamilton, '83-'85. In '86 he was in command of the forces at East St. Louis during the railroad riots, which lasted six weeks, and it was owing to his firmness and courage that the rioters were held in check. Gen. Reece also in charge of the troops during other strikes.

Gen. Reece is recognized as one of the best military men and organizers in the citizen soldiery of the country.

Gen. Reece ranks high in the Masonic order. He is prominent in all benevolent societies, and is at present a director of the Modern Woodmen of ing that region from the terror of bushwhackers. The pursuit of the guerillas kept his command busily at work in the saddle for days.

After the war he gave his attention to farming and mercantile pursuits at and near Monmouth for seven years. In '71 he was elected first assistant clerk of the house, and in '73 he was assistant secretary of state under Col. Harlow. In '77 he became assistant adjutant general of the Second Brigade, I. N. G., Brigadier General E. N. Bates commanding. In the latter capacity, under the direction of his commanding officer, he was in charge of the military during the riots in July, 1877, at East St. Louis. In November following he was made brigadier-general, one of the largest and most successfully managed fraternal societies in the world. He is a man of great social prominence in city, county and state.

Politically he is a republican—unswerving and uncompromising. July 1, '91, he was appointed adjutant-general by Gov. Fifer, retiring from command of the Second Brigade after a service of fourteen years as its commander. He held the position of adjutant-general until the change of administration in '93. For four years he devoted his time to the interests of the Modern Woodmen of America and to farming. Feb. 2, '97, he was appointed by Gov. Tanner as adjutant general, his present position.

APPELLATE COURT—1st District.

Thomas Nevin Jamieson, of Chicago, Clerk of the Appellate Court, First District, was born in Durham, County of Grey, Province of Ontario, Canada, February 29, 1848, of Scotch parents. He received a good education in the famous schools of Ontario, and at the age of 14 he was apprenticed to a druggist. At the age of 18 he went to Chicago, his ambition being for a larger field. In '70 he embarked in the drug business on his own account, and ever since has been identified with political leaders of that organization, and his skill, sagacity and good judgment soon became recognized. He was secretary of the republican state committee during the campaign of 1888 when "Private Joe" Fifer was elected governor of Illinois, and was the principal manager of the campaign which made James H. Gilbert sheriff of Cook county; also of the campaign which resulted in the election of Hempstead Washburn mayor of Chicago. During the Washburn administration Dr. Jamieson was entrusted with the distribution of the offices, and exerted the drug business in Chicago. For three years he was president of the Retail Drug Association of Chicago, and for five years was president of the State Board of Pharmacy. Notwithstanding the prominence he has attained in politics he still retains his drug stores in Chicago. He was city sealer under Mayor Washburn, and later was superintendent of public service of Cook county for two years. Dr. Jamieson is happily married and has two sons and two daughters.

Dr. Jamieson early identified himself with the republican party, and being endowed with a natural genius for political organization and management, he soon came to the front among the an important influence on the general policy of the administration. In the election of 1894, which resulted in such a notable triumph of his party, Dr. Jamieson exerted a powerful influence. He was chairman of the state committee in 1896, which he resigned to accept the position of national committeeman for Illinois. In this capacity he was frequently called into counsel with Chairman Hanna of the national committee, and was one of the most prominent figures in the political world during the fierce battle between the republicans and democrats. For clerk of the appellate court he received 218,853 votes to 153,272 for Thomas G. McElligott, fusion.

APPELLATE COURT—2nd District.

Christopher C. Duffy is now serving his second term as clerk of the Appellate Court, Second district, having been elected in 1890 and again in 1896. He was born in Dublin, Ireland, April 15, 1843, and moved to Chicago with his parents in 1850. During the terrible cholera epidemic that swept Chicago in 1854, Mr. Duffy lost both his parents, and he was thrown on his own resources. He entered the newspaper business in the humble capacity field in the 105th Illinois Infantry, and never was absent from his regiment from the time it left Chicago until it was honorably mustered out after the grand review in Washington at the close of the war. After the war he attended the Northern Illinois College at Fulton, graduating in 1871. After this he taught school in Kendall county, and remained in that county for nineteen years—until his election as clerk of the Appellate Court in 1890—seven years he was a teacher and prin-

of carrier for the Chicago Times, and after his route was delivered sold papers on the streets of Chicago. At that time twelve boys covered the streets of Chicago by selling papers. Every one of them attained more or less celebrity afterwards in the political and financial world. Young Duffy wanted an education, and leaving Chicago he worked on a DeKalb county farm in summer and did chores in winter to pay for his schooling. For several summers he sailed before the mast on Lake Michigan to vary the monotony of farm life.

In 1862 he enlisted from the harvest principal of Plano's public schools, and twelve years he was county superintendent of schools. He was elected in 1890 by a majority of 28,000 and in 1896 received 164,443 votes to 90,459 for Wm. D. Stewart, democrat. His term expires in 1902. The consolidation of the supreme court at Springfield does not affect Mr. Duffy's office.

Mr. Duffy is married and has six children. He always has been an ardent republican, and served a term on the state committee in 1888. The Second Appellate district comprises the thirty-two northern counties of the state except Cook county.

APPELLATE COURT—4th District.

Frank W. Havill, Clerk of the Appellate Court, Fourth District, came to Illinois from Ohio at the age of 14. He was born at Roscoe, O., on the Muskingum, and now lives at Mt. Carmel, on the Wabash. He has worked at a little of everything from driving a dirt cart on a new railroad to playing politics in Egypt. He has been a success at everything. He was private, first lieutenant, captain and assistant inspector general in the civil war, serving four years in the 15th Army Corps. He was twice severely from Cleveland. He was twice master in chancery of Wabash county, and in 1890 was elected clerk of the supreme court, Southern grand division. He declined to be a candidate for reelection, but was drafted into service for his present place. At the election in 1894 the counties comprising the present Fourth Appellate district gave a republican plurality of 12,324, and a clear republican majority of 3,000 over all. He was honored with the people's party nomination in 1896, as well as his own party. To the surprise of the opposition he succeeded in being elected by a majority of 1,416, running about 1,000 votes ahead of Mr. Bryan.

wounded, being shot through the right leg at Shiloh and the left shoulder at Kenesaw Mountain. He struck his gait in civil life when he entered the newspaper business, and as publisher of the Mt. Carmel Register (established 1839) he has achieved an unqualified success. When he bought the paper it was printed with "shoe pegs and apple butter on a cheese press." Now the Register office is one of the most complete country printing offices in the west, and the paper is more frequently quoted than any other in southern Illinois. Mr. Havill has held all the offices that Mt. Carmel could induce him to take. He was also postmaster under Cleveland's first administration. He hopes he will sometime be forgiven for accepting anything

Frank's democracy is stalwart, and he believes in lambasting the enemy upon every occasion, but his keen assaults are usually directed against parties, not individuals. His friends are not restricted by party lines. He is at home in all the lodges—Knights Templar, Shriners, Masons, Workmen, Red Men, Odd Fellows, Grangers, Knights of Labor, and Providence only knows what else. He is married and has a cozy home in Mt. Carmel, where he lives with his wife and two younger boys, and where the latchstring is always out. The eldest son, Orra, is publisher of the Lawrenceville News. The second son, a bright handsome youth, was killed by the cars in 1895. Frank is at present member-at-large of the democratic state committee.

Chance was reared and in the public schools was educated. In '56 he was assistant circuit clerk and in '60 was elected circuit clerk for four years. On the expiration of his term he was appointed master in chancery by the Hon. Silas L. Bryan, circuit judge, and in 1869 he was elected county clerk, serving until 1873. During that time he read law and was admitted to the bar. He also made the first set of abstract books ever made in the county and continued in the abstract business in connection with real estate dealing until the fall of 1878, when he was elected clerk of the Supreme Court for the Southern grand division, and in 1884 he was reelected, filling the office for two terms, or twelve years. In 1896 he was again elected to the same position.

Mr. Chance is a Royal Arch Mason and in politics has been a life-long democrat. Since attaining his majority he has almost continuously been connected with public office and in the discharge of his official duties he has ever been found faithful and true, and Jefferson county recognizes in him one of its best citizens. His residence is the old place settled by Gov. Zadok Casey, at a very early day, adjoining Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Chance received 87,463 votes to 86,093 for R. E. Mabery, republican, for his present office.

SUPREME COURT—Cent. Grand Div.

Albert D. Cadwallader, of Lincoln, was born in Ohio in 1846, and came to Illinois with his parents in '54. He received his education in the common schools and at the age of 16 enlisted in Co. B, 85th Ill. Vol. as a private, was promoted to orderly sergeant of his company and afterwards to first lieutenant, and upon the captain of his company being wounded, he took command. At the battle of Peach Tree Creek he lost his right arm. 1882 Mr. Lindly purchased a section of land near Greenville, and it has since been his home.

Mr. Lindly has been in politics all his life, and has had an active and sometimes personal interest in every biennial election in Illinois since 1886. advantage of McKendree College for his children, and in this excellent school Cicero J. Lindly received his education. He graduated in the scientific course in 1877, and from the law department two years later. The same year he was examined by the supreme court at Mt. Vernon and passed, but the license to practice could not be issued, on account of Mr. Lindly being under twenty-one years old. He went to St. Louis with ex-Gov. Fletcher, and at the Court of Appeals in that city was examined again, passing with credit and was admitted to practice before he was of age.

December 22, 1880, Mr. Lindly married Miss Alice J. McNeill, of Greenville, daughter of an extensive stock-dealer and banker. They moved to the old homestead near St. Jacobs, where he farmed for two years. In was a delegate to the republican national convention, and represented Illinois on the committee on credentials. He was chairman of the special committee that drafted the report to the national convention on the Mahone-Wise contested case from Virginia.

In 1890 he was nominated for congress and largely reduced the democratic majority. In 1891 he was the "last-ditch" candidate of the republicans for United States senator, when three alleged farmer members held the balance of power between the two old parties. He has been a personal friend of Gov. Tanner for twenty years, and was active in his interest long before the state convention met in 1896. No man worked harder in that campaign than Mr. Lindly. He spoke night and day for three months preceding the election.

COMMISSIONER RANNELLS.

R.R. and WAREHOUSE COMMISSION

Charles S. Rannells, of Jacksonville, member of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, was born on a Morgan county (Illinois) farm, December 5, 1857. His early life was that of the farmers' boys of the '60's. He went to school and finished his education by graduating from that famous Jacksonville institution, Illinois College, class of '79, in the classical course. He has been trustee of Illinois College for the past ten years, and for the past eight years he has been a trustee of the Young Ladies' Presbyterian Seminary, at Jacksonville.

The first political office Mr. Rannells ever filled is his present one on the Railroad and Warehouse Commission. He was highly endorsed for the position by farmers and stockmen from every section of the state, and represents that element of Illinois' population on the board.

Mr. Rannells has been an active figure in state politics for several years. In 1894 he was chosen member of the republican state committee, and was placed on the executive committee by Chairman John R. Tanner of the state committee. He was also a member of the finance committee. He was re-elected to the state committee in 1896, chosen chairman of the executive committee and was actively engaged in directing the campaign from the committee headquarters in Chicago. Mr. Rannells' labors in the campaign of 1896 were appreciated by the republicans of the state, and he received complimentary mention when he made his report at the close of the campaign.

In 1880 Mr. Rannells married Miss Cornelia May Stevenson, daughter of S. C. Stevenson, of Orleans, Morgan county.

He has been a farmer and cattle feeder all his business life and has been very successful.

R.R. and WAREHOUSE COMMISSION

Joseph E. Bidwell, member of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, was born in Chicago, February 21, 1857, and received his education in the Foster public school of Chicago. After his school days he entered a packing box manufactory. In '78 he went into the grain inspection department in Chicago in a very humble position, that of helper. The department at that time was under the supervision of the veteran John P. Reynolds, chief inspector. Mr. Bidwell did his work tee also. He is now a member of the republican state committee, representing the Fourth congressional district. He took an active and energetic interest in the election of 1896, and contributed of his means and time to the success of the republican ticket. The Ninth ward, which he represented in the council, was always good for a democratic majority of 1,800 to 2,500, but every time Mr. Bidwell ran he carried it. Mr. Bidwell was married in 1882 to Miss Mary A. Sullivan, and they have three children. He is a member of the Independent Order of so thoroughly and was so apt and energetic in the performance of his duties that his promotion followed. He worked his way up the ladder to a position as first assistant inspector, passing through several grades. He resigned when the democrats came into power in 1893. Four times he was elected to represent the Ninth ward of Chicago in the city council, his term of service being for eight years consecutively. He was offered the nomination for congress twice, and declined it. He was a delegate to the republican national conventions of 1892 and 1896, and has been a member of the Cook county republican committee for twelve years, and of the city commit-

Foresters and the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Mr. Bidwell's thorough knowledge of the grain inspection department in Chicago, which is one of the most important and largest inspection departments in the world, was taken advantage of by Gov. Tanner, who wanted not only a thorough business man, but also one familiar with the office, to take charge of that section of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, and the governor's desire that Mr. Bidwell oversee that department has been endorsed by the board.

Mr. Bidwell's father was a soldier in the Nineteenth Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry, and was killed in the battle of Gettysburg.

He was re-elected to the senate in '86, and in '89 he was appointed collector of internal revenue for the Cairo district by President Harrison. This he resigned in '93 when Cleveland came into office as president. He was born in Springfield, Nov. 3, 1859, and graduated from the Springfield High school in '76; Adams Academy, Quincy, Mass., in '77, and Harvard College in '81. In '81 he entered the Ridgely National bank as clerk, and in '84 was made assistant cashier and four years later was promoted to be cashier, a position he now holds. He is secretary of the Gas Light Co., the Wilmington and Springfield Coal Co., and treasurer of the Coal Operators' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. He is the son of Charles, and the grandson of Nicholas H. Ridgely, and therefore is the third generation of that family of bankers, widely known throughout the west as sound, conservative business men.

ARBITRATOR RIDGELY.

Mr. Ridgely was opposed to the free silver ideas of his party in '96 and was one of the leaders in the gold-standard democratic movement. He is married and has three children.

Joseph B. Gill, of Murphysboro, democratic member State Board of Arbitration, was lieutenant-governor '93-97, and probably stands closer to the laborers of the state at large than any other man. He served two terms in the house—'89-91, and his earnest efforts in behalf of the laboring population were evident in every measure in their interest that came before those two general assemblies. Among others Gov. Gill was instrumental in securing the passage of the truck store bill, the gross weight coal bill, and the weekly pay bill. He also did all he could to advance the arbitration bill. He was nominated for lieutenant-gov. in the democratic state convention of '92 on the first ballot, and presided with dignity and to the eminent satisfaction of senators of all parties over the senate for two sessions. In the spring of '94 while acting governor a demand came for troops from Toluca. Gov. Gill went to the scene in person and so powerful an influence did he exert that the trouble was settled without the militia. He was arbitrator between the M. & O. R. R. and its men in a labor dispute, the men winning. Shortly afterwards he was chosen arbitrator by the State Miners' convention between them and the operators in the troubles which resulted in the great strike of '95. The operators declined to arbitrate. Gov. Gill's selection as a member of the Board of Arbitration seems peculiarly appropriate. He was born near Marion, Ill., Feb. 17, 1862, and graduated from the Southern Normal and Ann Arbor Law School. He bought and published for several years the Murphysboro "Independent," selling it when he became lieutenant-governor. He is married and has one son. Note—Owing to ill health, Gov. Gill was compelled to resign his place on the board, and go to California in May, '97.

The Illinois State Penitentiary.

John H. Pierce, of Kewanee, President of the Joliet Penitentiary Board, was born in Aurora, Ill., in January, 1843, and received a high school and commercial college education. He has been in the manufacturing business all his life, and is now president of the Western Tube Co., at Kewanee, one of the largest plants in the country, employing 1,600 to 1,800 persons. He has been connected with these works for 25 years. At first he was chosen secretary and afterwards president. It was formerly the Haxtun Steam Heater Co. Mr. Pierce served one term in the state senate—1886-90. After his term in the senate for six years he was assistant manager of the National Tube Works at McKeesport, Pa., the largest in the world, and had actual management of the works. He is married and has three children. Mr. Pierce is a Knight Templar. He has been an active and influential republican in northwestern Illinois for many years, but never has been an office seeker. His present office was tendered him without solicitation on his part.

Hamer H. Green, of Bloomington, Commissioner for the Joliet Penitentiary, was born in Crawford county, Ill., Dec. 31, 1854. Received a high school education. He went into the drug business in Anna and in Cairo in '73. In '76 he entered the law department of the Ann Arbor University, graduating in '79. He located in Bloomington and practiced law for about three years. Then he reentered the drug business in that city, continuing until February, '97, when he sold out. He was appointed member of the State Board of Pharmacy by Gov. Fifer, and served for five years. Mr. Green is president and business director of the Pantagraph Printing and Stationery Co., one of the largest establishments of its kind in Illinois. He is also actively interested in a number of business enterprises in Bloomington and McLean county. He is an active and influential republican, and although never an office seeker he has done all he could to advance the interests and principles of republicanism. He has been a staunch republican all his life. He is married and has one child—a daughter. Mr. Green is a prominent Mason and is an officer of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Illinois.

Thomas O'Shaughnessy, of Chicago, Commissioner for the Joliet Penitentiary, was born in London, March 24, 1842, and three years later with the family came to America. He received a good education in New York city and Boston. He has been in the ready-made clothing business for the past 40 years, and in that long time has been connected with only two firms. The first was Bliss, Whiting, Pearce & McKinney, of Boston, Mass., which retired from business long ago. He has been with Clement, Bane & Co., Chicago, for the past 29 years. In '61 he enlisted in Co. I, 44th Mass. Vol. Inf., Col. F. L. Lee, commanding. Mr. O'Shaughnessy is married and has nine children. He has lived in Chicago ever since he first became connected with Clement, Bane & Co., 29 years, and never before held a political office and never wanted one. He has taken an active interest in politics, and has always been a staunch republican.

WARDEN McLAUGHRY.

Maj. Robert Wilson McLaughry, Warden of the State Penitentiary, Joliet, was born in Hancock Co., Ill., June 22, 1839, and raised on a farm by strict old Presbyterian parents. He graduated when 21 from Monmouth College. His college life was a severe struggle for existence and education because of the straitened circumstances of his parents. One year as tutor in the college and another as editor of a democratic paper in Hancock county and then he enlisted in the 118th Reg., Ill. Vol. He was elected captain of Co. B, and a few months later major of the regiment. As major he entered the Vicksburg campaign. After Vicksburg fell he served in the department of the gulf, but his health failing, his superior officers secured his appointment as additional paymaster, U. S. A., at Springfield, where he remained until '65. Then followed a term as county clerk, several years of business, failure and poor health. In '74 came the unsolicited offer of wardenship of the Joliet prison. The ten years preceding his appointment had seen as many different wardens in charge and the final demoralization of the institution. No one can describe his methods—his success is well known. The prisoner soon found himself surrounded by temperate, gentlemanly guards and officers. He awoke to the realization that he was not only a human being but a man. Good conduct secured for him opportunities for reform and privileges, and bad conduct brought him face to face with prompt, severe, but humane punishment. Fourteen years of able management placed Warden McLaughry among the expert scientific prison men of the nation, and made Joliet prison famous as a model modern institution. In '88 he resigned to accept a call to Pennsylvania, where he organized and placed upon a firm foundation, the Pennsylvania State Industrial Reformatory. The health of his family requiring a change to a dryer climate, he resigned solely on this account, intending to accept a position at the head of the famous Allegheny County Workhouse near Pittsburgh. The news of his intended change reached the ears of Mayor-elect Washburne, when, in May, '91, the call to the superintendency of the Chicago police department came unsolicited from that gentleman. For two years and a half he was busily engaged organizing perfecting and divorcing from politics this department of public safety. Sept., '93, he was called by Gov. Altgeld to the superintendency of the Illinois State Reformatory, and remained in charge until March 1, '97, when he was requested by Gov. Tanner to again take charge of the Illinois State Penitentiary.

The Elgin Hospital for the Insane.

Walter S. Frazier, of Aurora, President Board of Trustees, Northern Illinois Hospital for the Insane, was born in New York state in 1835, and moved to Illinois in '57. He is one of the best known men in Kane county and has held many offices of honor during the past third of a century. In '65 he was clerk of the house of representatives in Springfield, and for several years was chairman of the republican congressional committee of his district. In '88, '90 and '92 Mr. Frazier was chosen member of the republican state committee, and in '91 was elected mayor of Aurora. Mr. Frazier is a director of the Merchants' National Bank, of Aurora, and founder of the firm of W. S. Frazier & Co., of road cart fame. At present he is owner and publisher of the Aurora Daily News, a newspaper of considerable influence. Mr. Frazier's long experience in Illinois politics has given him a wide acquaintance and standing among his party's leaders.

A. S. Wright, of Woodstock, Trustee Elgin Hospital for the Insane, was born Feb., 1847, in Pompey, N. Y. At an early age his parents died, leaving him dependent on his own resources. He enlisted at the age of 15 in the 22d N. Y. Cav., and was mustered out in Aug., '65. He came west in Jan., '66, and clerked in a drugstore until '70, at which time he embarked in the drug business for himself. Mr. Wright is well known for his work as secretary of the fair in his section and securing Gen. Longstreet and many other famous men as attractions during the nine years of his secretaryship. In politics there is no more energetic or astute worker in the state, and no man stands higher in the estimation of the men who lead the republican party of Illinois. One prominent feature of Mr. Wright's success is that he is ever true to his friends. As a partial recognition of his political services, in '89 Gov. Fifer appointed Mr. Wright a commissioner for the Joliet penitentiary, and he was elected secretary of the board. Mr. Wright is a self-made man, and never had the advantages of a college education. He is married, and has four children, one, Verne A., a prominent attorney of Chicago.

Winfield Scott Cowen, of Shannon, Trustee Elgin Hospital for the Insane, was born Dec. 13, 1849, at Altoona, Pa. His father was a farmer of Scotch-Irish ancestry and moved to Illinois in '56. Mr. Cowen received a common school education and then returned to the farm. He moved to Shannon in '76 where he engaged in the grain and stock shipping business. He was elected to the town council in '80 and re-elected each year up to '84, when he was elected president of the town council. In '89 he was appointed postmaster of Shannon by President Harrison. In '92 he was a delegate to the republican national convention and voted for Blaine for president. He was frequently a delegate to state republican conventions and in '96 was chairman of his county delegation. He was elected mayor of Shannon in April, '97. In '72 he was married to Miss Lucy Hileman, of Carroll county. Mr. Cowen is a genial, companionable man. He is a 32d degree Mason.

The State Fish Commission.

Nat H. Cohen, of Urbana, President State Fish Commission, is one of the most energetic young business men and staunchest republicans in eastern Illinois. He was born in Philadelphia in 1851, moved to Urbana in '77 and the following year commenced business and now is the largest dealer in manufactured tobacco in central Illinois. He early associated himself with the republican party, and for nearly twenty years has spared neither time nor money for the success of its candidates and principles. He has a fine tenor voice and no night was too stormy for him to participate in campaign meetings, with glee clubs. Mr. Cohen for years has taken a deep interest in fishing, and has studied the habits and varieties of fish and their propagation. He has an extensive library on the subject, and his selection meets with the approbation of everybody.

S. P. Bartlett, Member and Superintendent of the State Fish Commission, was born in Quincy, Ill., January 2, 1842, and learned the printer's trade early in life in the office of the Quincy Whig. He was in commercial business for a number of years and in '70 took up with fish work. He was a member of the State Fish Commission continuously from the date of its organization until '93, when the democrats took charge of the administration, and Mr. Bartlett, a stalwart republican, was let out. The democrats couldn't get along without his assistance, and he was acting superintendent of the board from '93 until '97. Mr. Bartlett is one of the best known men in Illinois public life and knows more about fish than anybody else.

August Lenke, of Chicago, Member of the State Fish Commission, was born in Luedge, Prussia, March 16, 1844, and in '64 left his native land for Chicago, which has ever since been his home. At first he was in the grain business, but in '73 entered the wholesale coal business, and for the last 19 years has been a member of the firm of O.S. Richardson & Co., which is composed of himself and Mr. Richardson. By their energy and thrift they have acquired an enviable position in the commercial world. They are now the largest receivers in Chicago of anthracite coal by lake, controlling and operating five of the best equipped and largest coal docks in the city, from which they distribute to local merchants 250,000 tons annually. Socially Mr. Lenke is very popular, and is a substantial member of leading societies and orders, particularly on the West Side, where he resides. Mr. Lenke is one of the most substantial business men in the great western metropolis. He is too good a business man to mix much in politics and never sought an office in his life.

The Commission of Claims.

Judge William C. Jones, of Robinson, member State Commission of Claims, was born in Hutsonville, July 15, 1848. He received a literary education at the Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O., and attended law school at the University of Michigan. He was admitted to the practice of law, May 9, '68, and immediately formed a law partnership with Hon. E. Callahan, his step-father, who made him an equal partner. He was elected as a democrat to the 27th General Assembly in '71; as county judge in '77; as circuit judge in '79, and was reelected in '85. At the expiration of his term he formed a law partnership with Mr. E. E. Newlin. Later on Judge John C. Eagleton was taken into the firm, which is now Jones, Newlin & Eagleton. He married in '69, Miss Mary H. Steel, of Robinson, and they have two sons and a daughter. Judge Jones has been a successful financier. He is Vice President of the First National Bank of Robinson, and, also, largely interested in farming and fruit growing. He is a member of Gorin Commandery No. 14, K. T. He was appointed as the minority member of the commission of claims by Governor Tanner, in April, '97.

ERRORS NOTED.

The compiler and publisher of this book is not responsible for the errors in the Official Vote in "Appendix B." Some of the mistakes are inexcusable. ### OTHER ERRORS.

In compiling such a work as this, which extends from the organization of the Territory of Illinois, and embraces nearly ninety years of the State's history, it is almost impossible to prevent small errors. The publisher will consider it a favor if any reader will notify him of errors that he may discover, so that succeeding editions may be corrected.

Were it possible, a complete "Blue Book" would be incorporated in this volume, but the recent change in administration and the many resignations and discharges in state offices, as well as state institutions, are a bar to a "Blue Book" of value. The edition two years hence it is expected will contain the names, salaries and addresses of every officer and employe of Illinois on the first day of January, 1899.

STATISTICS REGARDING STATE INSTITUTIONS.

The following tables from the biennial report of the Board of Public Charities, shows the ordinary expenses of each institution for each fiscal year since the year 1875; the net cost to the State of Illinois; the average number of inmates during each year, and the per capita rate per annum, gross and net. The date of closing the fiscal year has been changed twice during the past eighteen years. Before 1875 the fiscal year closed on the 30th of November, but, in 1875, it closed on the 1st of October, so that the expenses for 1875 cover only ten calendar months. Since 1888 the fiscal year has closed on the 1st of July, so that the expenses for that year cover only nine calendar months. In calculating the rate per capita, however, these changes have been taken into account, and the rate is stated at the figure which it would have reached if the fiscal year had consisted of twelve full months. The fact that the three months taken off from the fiscal year 1888 were those in which the educational institutions have a vacation tended to increase the average number of inmates for that particular year, and correspondingly to diminish the per capita cost. This applies to the Institutions for the Deaf and Dumb and for the Blind, the Asylum for Feeble-Minded Children and the Soldiers' Orphans' Home.

An examination of the tables will satisfy an attentive reader that there has been, on the whole, a decided and steady improvement in the financial management of the State institutions.

NOTE.—The Asylum for the Incurable Insane at Peoria, the Northwestern Hospital for the Insane at Rock Island, and the Industrial Home for the Blind at Chicago are not included in these tables. None of them are ready for occupancy and probably will not be occupied until the fall or winter of 1897. At this writing the General Assembly has not made appropriations for their completion and furnishing.
